

Air Cavalry Hurls Reinforcements At N. Vietnamese

Three Battalions Airlifted to Aid Battle in Highlands Area

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen hurled heavy reinforcements against a force of 350 or more North Vietnamese regulars in the central highlands today and reported the Communists were on the run.

Helicopters airlifted three battalions of cavalry reinforcements to the battle scene 15 miles west of An Khe and 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

After brisk fighting throughout the day — the second day of the engagement — reports from headquarters of the 1st Air Cavalry Division said the enemy force was retreating at nightfall.

The engagement started Monday when an outnumbered company of cavalrymen clashed with strongly entrenched North Vietnamese. Some of this fighting was hand-to-hand.

Casualties Moderate
The U.S. command in Saigon said 28 Communist troops were killed in the opening six-hour fight Monday, but a division officer at the scene estimated total enemy dead at 85.

American casualties were listed as moderate.

It was the only reported ground action of any size in the Viet Nam war, and continuing monsoon rains once again cut sharply into the American air offensive over North Viet Nam.

B52 Strikes
U.S. Air Force B52 bombers, flying above the weather at 40,000 feet, struck for a third successive day at the same target near the Cambodian border. The eight-engine planes, coming from Guam, bombed a Viet Cong troops base and storage area 70 miles north of Saigon in Binh Long Province.

Also along the Cambodian border, the U.S. 1st Infantry Division ended Operation Birmingham and reported taking a huge haul of enemy supplies during the 24-day search and destroy campaign. A military spokesman said it was the largest seizure of Viet Cong base camps and supplies of the last six months and possibly of the war.

Well Equipped
A U.S. spokesman said the Communists were well camouflaged and dug-in, and probably equipped with Soviet 120mm mortars, the largest type used by the Communists which the Soviets have supplied only in recent months.

The spokesman said the U.S. company of helicopter-lifted

State Senate

Okays Hike in School Aids

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Senate completed legislative action today on a bill that will raise school aids $11.2 million per year effective in September.

There was little debate on the measure and the vote accepting an Assembly amendment that set the total was 28-2. The dis-sents came from Republican Sens. Jerris Leonard of Milwaukee and William Draheim of Neenah.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles recommended passage of the bill Monday when he received word that the state could expect a $28.7 million surplus at the end of this biennium.

The school aid increase raises the property tax potential behind each student $4,000 to a minimum figure of $38,000. Districts without that amount of property tax base for each student will receive state aid to make up the difference.

Also included in the measure is a $2 increase in flat aid distribution. The boost brings the total to $44 for elementary pupils and $57 for those in high school. Flat aids are distributed to all districts.

There were conflicting reports from the scene to the effect that the man and girl had been sighted, but there was no official confirmation.

FBI Agent in Search for Girl Shot and Killed

SHADE GAP, Pa. (AP) — An FBI agent hunting for kidnapped Peggy Ann Bradnick and her abductor was shot and killed today by an unknown gunman holed up in the woods of this rural central Pennsylvania community.

In Washington, the FBI reported that a single shot from a rifle struck agent Terry Ray Anderson, 42, as he participated in the search. He died within a few minutes.

Anderson, whose home was in Hemphill, Pa., has been a special agent in charge of the Harrisburg FBI office for 10 years. His widow and four children survive.

A brother, John, is a special agent in Omaha, Neb.

State police and FBI agents converged on the area and reportedly had the gunman trapped in the woods, from which a masked man emerged Monday when he received word that the state could expect a $28.7 million surplus at the end of this biennium.

Agena Failure Postpones Gemini 9 at Least 2 Weeks

Mission Control Reports Radio Control Lost After Apparently Perfect Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The launching of the Gemini 9 astronauts on a rendezvous and space-walk mission was postponed today for at least two weeks when their Agena target satellite failed to achieve orbit.

An Atlas rocket blazed away from Cape Kennedy at 11:15 a.m. (EDT) to propel the Agena into space. But eight minutes later, mission director William C.

Schneider reported: "We have lost the Agena bird. We don't know exactly what happened to it. The Gemini will not fly today."

He then scrubbed the launch of Gemini 9 pilots Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan, who were to have spent three days in space practicing maneuvers essential to Apollo man-to-the-moon trips.

Second Disappointment
For Stafford, it was the second similar disappointment. He and Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. were in the Gemini 6 spacecraft last Oct. 25 and had their mission postponed when their Agena target satellite exploded six minutes after liftoff.

There was no immediate reaction from the astronauts on the scrubbing of their space flight — one of the most daring and difficult ever attempted.

During their three days in space, they were to have practiced several rendezvous and docking techniques with the Agena, attempted space rescue

Buddhists Call for Showdown With Ky; U.S. Supports Saigon Military Rule

Rebel Leaders Pledge Lives
To Force End of Crackdown

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military government alerted troops of its Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, the elite 7th Infantry Division today to stand by in case of Buddhist Nam, was aboard the helicopter in Saigon. Two battalions about 1,000 men — were reported moving in from the south.

The Buddhist hierarchy hurled charges of treason and murder against the regime. Monks in Saigon's main pagoda said they planned to start a 48-hour hunger strike Thursday. In the northern provinces, others said they would give their lives if necessary to force the government to end its crackdown on that part of the country.

As the junta faced the political peril of a new round of fiery suicides by monks, dissident troops of the army's 1st Corps also kept up their resistance to the government.

A soldier in Hue fired two pistol shots at a U.S. helicopter carrying the new Vietnamese commander of the 1st Corps, Maj. Gen. Huynh Van Cao, and the U.S. Marine chief of staff in Viet Nam, Brig. Gen. Jonas M. Piatt, on a mission to win over dissident officers of the Vietnamese 1st Army Division.

Washington Decision Doesn't Mean Endorsement of Premier

WASHINGTON (AP) — John-son administration leaders, after two days of intensive consultations on the Viet Nam crisis, have agreed to support a strong fall short of a civil war, but Vietnamese military role in any future Saigon government.

But, high officials made clear Monday, this decision does not indicate a personal endorsement of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

The sharp foreign policy debate touched off by Ky's weekend move against Buddhists in Da Nang got added momentum today from Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Rusk scheduled a late afternoon news conference — his first in seven weeks — and Fulbright appeared before a luncheon meeting of the National Press Club.

New Hearings
Fulbright said Monday his committee may open a new round of hearings on Viet Nam. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, his round of talks over, departs for his Saigon post. He will stop en route to confer in Seoul with South Korean President Chung Hee

A high official explained the administration's decision to support a military regime in Saigon this way:

It is necessary to build a nation and fight a war at the same time. The current appraisal here is that the political disturbances in South Viet Nam will involve bloodshed.

Evolution — but not stability — will be predominant in the weeks and months ahead. The army is the only nation-building influence in a country still divided among conflicting groups and without any political parties with a power base.

$4.2 Billion Plan

GOP Hopes to Kill Financing Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican opponents of President Johnson's controversial $4.2 billion in the loan financing program hoped to deal it a parliamentary sudden death today.

They have drafted at least five technical points of order to knock out vital sections of the bill that would permit the administration to shift government loans to private investors.

The financing program could make the difference between a $1.8 billion budget deficit next year and one $6 billion in the red.

Details Secret
Republicans refused to reveal details of their strategy, but it was understood to be related to their contention that the measure is a disguised appropriation bill that would remove substantial spending items from the regular budget and mix fiscal and legislative matters in violation of House rules.

If the bill survives these parliamentary assaults, it is expected to come to a final vote today.

The administration, which is pushing hard for the bill, won a preliminary skirmish Monday when the House voted 184-120 to formally take up the legislation. Only two Republicans voted with the majority.

Pool Loans
The measure would provide for the pooling of government loans and the offer of participation in those pools to big investors, in effect changing the government-held paper into cash. The money would go directly to the agencies affected — a feature which opponents call deceitful.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee, strongly supports the bill. He told the House Monday it was a move away from "immobilizing millions of dollars of taxpayers' money in a growing loan portfolio."

The principle of selling government loans is well-established, Mills contended, but new techniques are needed because the total of government-held loans keeps growing and is expected to reach $33.3 billion by June 30.

Protesters Pledge to Remain

Students Stage Draft Protest at University of Wisconsin Building

MADISON (AP) — A boisterous bunch of students dug in at the University of Wisconsin administration building today after turning it into a front line of protest against draft policies.

The students said they would remain until the university pledged not to make classroom grades available to draft officials.

The protesters occupied the four-story stone building Monday afternoon and remained through the night. Both university officials and students studiously sidestepped a direct confrontation over the camp-in.

University officials said no efforts would be made to remove the students by force unless they interfered with normal business today. The students, after two hours of debate last night, voted overwhelmingly against trying to bar the building doors to university personnel.

The number of protesters fluctuated. The total rose from three dozen campers to almost 500 students at the height of the debate, then dropped to about 100 early today. Campus enrollment is about 28,000.

The marble floor of the main lobby was covered with blankets, mattresses, cigarette butts and discarded sandwich wrappers. Students took over a public address system during the debate over blocking the doors.

"We are the power now, not the university," yelled a bearded student.

About one-third of the students were coeds. Three married couples brought infants.

Protest Organizer
Lowell Bergman, 20, a New Rochelle, N.Y., senior who identified himself as an organizer of the protest, said he planned to meet again today with University Chancellor Robben W. Fleming to discuss the group's demands.

Fleming said no attempt would be made to eject the protesters unless they hampered students' advance registration today for classes this summer and next fall.

The vote against any attempt to block the doors to university office workers and officials came on a show of hands after speakers predicted support for the protest would grow if it remained peaceful.

Public Protest
Bergman said the group wanted the university to make a public protest against new selective service standards for student

CBSTakes Look at LSD At 9 Tonight

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 — Channels 2-12 — CBS Reports' "LSD: The Spring Grove Experiment" is an interesting, academic probe into the merits of the controversial drug. Avoiding comment on those who use the drug for thrills, the documentary follows two patients (a grandmother who has had a mental breakdown and a young father who is an alcoholic) through a course of treatment that started last September and culminated in an LSD "experience" at Spring Grove State Hospital, Md.

6:30-7:30 — Channels 2-7-12 — Again, Judy, the frisky, overbearing chump on Daktari, is a heroine. When she and her masters — Dr. Marsh Tracy and Jack — are tossed by a gunrunner into a cave to die, Judy turns up her nose to find an escape route. (Color)

7-7:30 — Channels 4-5 — Please Don't Eat the Daisies has all the appearances of The Donna Reed Show. Ozzie and Harriet and all the other family situation comedies combined in "How About Two Gorillas?"

mom and dad are dragged into performing at a school function and there are the usual jokes. (R-Color)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — Combat's excellent show, "Hear No Evil," was written by Tim Considine (who played Mike on My Three Sons) and his brother, John. It is a visual story for the most part. Vic Morow, deafened by a grenade blast, makes his way through woods heavily populated by Germans. A scrawny dog he finds becomes his ears, until the dog is killed. (R)

7:30-8 — Channels 11-6-9 — The men of McHale's Navy all become ham actors in a complicated plot about the efforts of an inept cameraman to film action aboard the PT boat. Unfortunately, Gruber (Carl Ballantine) has conned the camera away from the photographer and photographed dancing girls and sailors. (R)

7:30-8:30 — Channels 2-7-12 — The Red Skelton Hour is brightened by Petula Clark, a songbird from England who chirps her hits. "I Know a Place" and "A Sign of the Times." Later on she sings a comedy sketch with Red concerning Clem Kadiddlehopper's trials in the Peace Corps. (Color)

Jingo Surveys Scene For Next Season's TV

ABC Stage '67 to Feature Original Musical Fantasy; Program on Dylan

BY JINGO

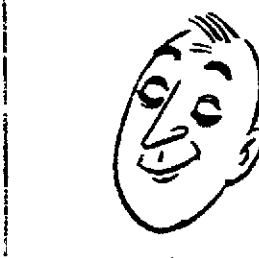

Among the shows scheduled for "ABC Stage '67" next season is one devoted to Bob Dylan and another called "Flip Side." The latter is an original musical fantasy about a recording star who is a has-been at 23 and one of his fan clubs, a quartet of teen-aged angels who come back to earth to hypo his career. Burt Bacharach is writing the music.

According to Pat Buttram, of "Green Acres," Julie Christie did such a dramatic scene accepting the Oscar on television that she is now up for an Emmy. The Emmy awards will be given Sunday on CBS. Buttram also reports that Congress, to relieve the shortage of bombs in Viet Nam, "has asked Hollywood to send all its cancelled TV shows over."

Buck Henry, who created "Get Smart," has a new show in the works, called "Captain Nice." George Segal has read the pilot and reports, "It's the funniest script I have ever read. Henry is such a great man I would walk across fire for him — or at least warm coals." Sounds as if he also walked through a few corn fields and maybe even a barn full of bulls.

A reliable report from Hollywood says that Raymond Burr made $4 million for his nine-year stint as Perry Mason. It takes Julie Andrews four movies to make that much. She gets $1 million per film. And it was about two years ago that she was turned down for the movie lead of "My Fair Lady."

Jingo because she "wasn't big enough box office."

Bill Cosby is a wee bit embarrassed about being nominated for an Emmy in the best series actor category (so is Jingo). His co-star Robert Culp also was nominated. "Bob deserves it," Cosby said. "But for me, there should be a category called 'Best First-Season Performer' by an Actor Who F. Theodore Clook directing; plays through Saturday.

There seems to be no end to Buttram's "humor." He also says, "There are so many spy shows on television. I'm afraid to change channels for fear I'm being followed."

In the TV business you win show and turned it down because it was "not commercial." The show? "Get Smart."

Knowles Stresses Care in Spending

Governor Asks Solons to Use Part of Tax Surplus as 'Cushion'

MADISON — Wisconsin's economy cannot be expected to continue at its present boom pace and so the state legislature must use restraint in spending the expected $28.7 million tax surplus, Gov. Warren P. Knowles said Monday.

Speaking at an executive office press conference, Knowles read from a special written message to the May session of the Legislature, prepared in view of the long-awaited tax surplus estimates announced Monday morning by State Tax Commissioner James Morgan.

Knowles urged that as a first step in its deliberations over the use of the state surplus, the legislature set aside $11.4 million as a "cushion" against adverse changes in the economy of the nation and state.

Urges Prudence

The governor said that the tax surplus must be handled in a "prudent manner."

Economic indicators give evidence that the economy may be in for a setback, he said, repeating warnings issued earlier in the day by Morgan.

"Although the clouds on the economic horizon may pass us by, we would fail the people of Wisconsin if we neglected the possibility of foul weather and a downturn in the economy."

Knowles ruled out the possibility of a tax cut, saying that such a move would not be "fiscally responsible."

Recommends Bills

Knowles said that several bills in a $17.3 million package of pending legislation recommended for passage in the May session of the legislature had the effect of cutting taxes on the local level.

The greatest single need for tax changes in Wisconsin, the governor said, is some form of property tax relief on the level of local government.

Largest of the bills, carrying a two-year price tag of $25.2 million, allows aids to be paid to municipalities for school costs. First year cost of the program is expected to be $11.2 million.

He also urged passage of a bill eliminating difficulties in filing for tax relief under the present homestead tax relief law for the elderly. The cost of the measure, which would simplify filing procedures, is expected to be about $1.2 million.

High on List

High on the governor's list of priorities is a bill prepared by the Menominee Indian Study Committee which would allow the state to acquire temporary easements along the banks of the Wolf River in anticipation of a federal program of preservation after the Wolf is designated as a national "wild river." Cost of the program, which will allow some of the funds to be paid to Menominee Enterprises Inc. of Menominee County for the purchase and installation of sanitary facilities for combating pollution, is $150,000 a year. The program is expected to last three years.

Also on his list of priority items for legislative consideration was a $363,500 item for the staffing of the requested water quality commission, now being considered by the legislature. The new commission would combine duties of existing departments, and would perform new ones.

Knowles endorsed a requested pay increase plan for the faculty of the University of Wisconsin which would total $1.3 million. The increases are necessary, he said, for UW to maintain its position in the comparative pay scales of the Big 10 universities.

Salary Request

Another salary increase request of $3.1 million for civil servants on professional levels was also endorsed by the governor. It has been requested of the legislature by the state Board of Personnel.

A bill that would almost double the state's expenditures each year for promotional advertising won the governor's recommendations. It would appropriate $490,000 to a $500,000 and for the past nine years was paid now being used to lure tourists to Wisconsin.

Other housekeeping and administrative bills brought the total recommended spending to $17,333,300.

Knowles commended Democratic legislative leaders on their willingness to compromise throughout the 1965 legislative session, and called upon them to again confer with him on priority needs of the May session.

"My door is always open," he said, "and I'm willing to work with the legislature on compromises for the good of the state."

He also commended the legislature for working toward tax stability and for avoiding and ending the use of "one shot" tax measures which have been resorted to in the past for the rapid raising of revenues.

New Plaque To Honor War Veterans

Legion Plans Dedication Fete Near Darboy

SHERWOOD — Dedication of a new plaque on a boulder at the intersection of State 55 and State 114 honoring war veterans is planned for 12:30 p.m. Memorial Day, according to Richard Belongea, Darboy.

The plaque will replace the one stolen in 1964 honoring World War I veterans of the Town of Harrison. It was placed there by the Leo Van Roy American Legion Post, Darboy and the Town of Harrison.

The new plaque will be dedicated to veterans of all wars, Belongea said, and will be set in place this week by John Lamers, the post historian, and himself.

The Thomas E. Kees American Legion Post, Sherwood, will be asked to participate in the dedication.

Chemical Society To Hear Speaker, Tour Wire Works

Herbert C. Haller, manager of the special products division, Appleton Wire Works Corp., will speak at a meeting of the Northeast Wisconsin Section of the American Chemical Society at The Institute of Paper Chemistry at 8 p.m. today. The subject will be "The Weaving Process."

Haller is a graduate textile chemist of the Lowell Technical Institute and did graduate work at Rutgers, Drexel Institute of Technology, and at New York University in the area of textile technology. He has served as manager, fibers application research laboratories, for American Cyanamid and as manager, Chemstrand Corp. He is particularly interested in the area of synthetic fibers and the development of new products for use in the paper industry.

A tour of the Appleton Wire Works is featured for section members this afternoon.

Laird Predicts Milk Price Support Increase

Claims Boost to $3.70 Per Hundredweight Will Come too Late to Offset Early Setbacks

By RICHARD P. POWERS Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., predicted today a new dairy price support will be announced by Sept. 1 raising the level from $3.56 per hundredweight for milk to $3.70.

But he said the increase would not offset "the crippling blows dealt the dairy farmer" by recent administration actions.

Laird said the new price support which "will be announced just before the elections will be too little and too late in light of the other price-busting actions taken by the Johnson-Freeman administration in recent weeks and months."

The support level increase to $3.50 which was announced March 31 by Secretary of Agriculture Orville E. Freeman was predicted by Laird several weeks prior to the announcement. Laird is chairman of the House Republican Conference.

Little Effect

The next increase, he said, will affect milk with 3.7 per cent butterfat and for Wisconsin farmers will merely raise the support level to the $3.50 figure.

Laird said the Agriculture Department's price support announcements are based on 3.7 per cent milk whereas Wisconsin farmers are paid on the basis of 3.5 per cent.

"This means," he said, "that Wisconsin farmers under the present $3.50 price support are actually guaranteed $3.31 per hundredweight for the 3.5 milk they produce. Under the anticipated new announcement of 3.7 per cent, the Wisconsin farmer will be guaranteed only $3.50."

The newest price, Laird said, will not offset the "breaking of the dairy market caused by increased cheese imports and an administration publicity campaign against the purchase of dairy products which we have witnessed in recent weeks."

Selective Discrimination

Laird said actions of the administration amount to selective price discrimination against the dairy farmer "and give substance to the charge that this administration has undertaken a program to liquidate the dairy farmer in Wisconsin."

The actions cited by Laird include:

President Johnson's proposal in his budget message to cut back drastically the school milk and lunch program for the 12-month period beginning July 1.

The administration's decision to use margarine instead of butter for the Army and Air Force.

A statement last month by Johnson in which he urged housewives to stop using dairy products as one way of curbing rising cost of living.

The "opening up of the U.S. market to foreign cheese which is produced under substandard conditions."

The decision to ask the U.S. Tariff Commission to allow even greater foreign imports of cheddar cheese into this country in the marketing year which starts July 1.

The decision to restrict exports of cattle hides, calf and kip skins.

6 States Told To Watch for Tornadoes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms, with rain, hail and strong winds, swept areas along a squall line from southeastern Nebraska across eastern Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma today.

The Weather Bureau issued tornado or severe thunderstorm watches for a six-state area from Arkansas to Iowa. The tornado watch included southwestern Missouri and adjacent sections of Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. The severe thunderstorm watch included northwestern and north-central Missouri and nearby areas of Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa.

The Weather Bureau reported tornadoes touched down at Tonkawa in north-central Oklahoma and near Wellington in south-central Kansas Monday night but there were no reports of injuries or property damage. Several funnel clouds were sighted in eastern Kansas and north-eastern Oklahoma.

Stormy weather diminished in the Southeast after tornadoic winds and heavy rain pounded Columbus in west-central Georgia, injuring 10 persons and causing heavy property damage. Scores of buildings, including the Muscogee County courthouse, were damaged. One woman was injured at Phenix City, Ala. None of the injured was reported in serious condition.

Accused of Driving Under Influence of Intoxicants Friday

David M. Janssen, 23, 1917 S. Jefferson, Monday pleaded guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller fined Janssen $175 and costs or 70 days in jail, and ordered his driver's license revoked for one year.

Janssen was arrested by Outagamie County traffic police last Friday night on State 76 in the Town of Greenville.

Sherwood School Group Chooses New Officers

SHERWOOD — Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kiefer have been elected presidents of the Sacred Heart Home School Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kress will serve as secretaries and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steffen, treasurers.

The group discussed costs of schools and school supplies for the fall term. A budget of $3,000 has been allowed. Rev. Michael Drexler told the parents the $5 a family contribution would remain, with the balance taken from general funds.

Louis T. Miller, 62, Ex-Milk Route Owner, Dies at Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Funeral services will be 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Fargo Funeral Home for Louis T. Miller, 62, route 1, who died unexpectedly at 2 p.m. Monday.

A native of Kaukauna, he owned and operated a milk route in the area, was employed for 11 years by Midland Co-Op and for the past nine years was paid now being used to lure tourists to Wisconsin.

He is survived by his widow and a sister. Interment will be in Highland Memorial Park at 17,333.300.

Knowles commended Democratic legislative leaders on their willingness to compromise throughout the 1965 legislative session, and called upon them to again confer with him on priority needs of the May session.

"My door is always open," he said, "and I'm willing to work with the legislature on compromises for the good of the state."

He also commended the legislature for working toward tax stability and for avoiding and ending the use of "one shot" tax measures which have been resorted to in the past for the rapid raising of revenues.

Clintonville Man Fined In Outagamie Court

Lawrence Peterson, 39, route 3, Clintonville, was fined $25 and costs or 12 days in jail Monday after he was found guilty of intoxication.

Peterson, whose trial was before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller, pleaded stability and for avoiding and ending the use of "one shot" tax measures which have been resorted to in the past for the rapid raising of revenues.

Misplayed Hand Can Be Unlucky

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"That was one of the unluckiest hands I ever played," South remarked as the opponents chalked up 100 points. "No, the bad luck was mine," North corrected him. "Anybody else at the table would have made the slam."

Declarer took the first diamond trick in dummy, discarding a heart from his hand. He then led a trump from dummy, discovering the bad news when East discarded a diamond.

South took two high trumps, led a heart to dummy and tried the club finesse. West thereupon defeated the contract with a club and a spade.

We have all seen unluckier hands, but South did have something to gripe about. Still, North was right also. South had two chances to make his slam despite the bad breaks in both black suits.

Should Ruff
South should ruff the first diamond draw two top trumps, and cash the top hearts. When the queen and jack fall, South can lead a heart to the ten and give West his trump trick.

West must return a diamond, and South can then discard three clubs on the ace of diamonds and the two long hearts. South killed this plan when he was in such a hurry to discard a heart at the first trick.

Even after South had misplayed the first trick he could still make the slam. After taking two high trumps he should lead a heart to dummy, ruff the jack of diamonds, lead another heart to dummy and ruff a heart.

Declarer then gives West his trump trick. If West returns a diamond, dummy ruffs and cashes two hearts, giving South three discards for the clubs. If West returns a club, South gets a free finesse and gets to dummy by ruffing a club for a good heart.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S Q 4 3, H Q J, D 10 9 8 7, 4, C K 9 6. What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid 1 NT. Do not raise partner's suit even though you have two very good cards in his suit. You need more than two trumps to raise.

Spring Cleaning Means Checking Pesticides Too

In the midst of storing away winter equipment and checking lawn furniture for needed repairs, take time to make a thorough inventory of the pesticides you have around the home, suggests Margaret Nelson, consumer protection specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Locate all pesticides that have been stored over the winter. A pesticide is any chemical used to kill pests—from mothballs to weed killers. Check the garage, tool shed, basement, back porch and storage closets.

Freezing Effect
Inspect the packages and contents to see how they survived the winter. Some pesticides lose their effectiveness after freezing. If you find a product that might have frozen, check the label to see if freezing harms the contents. If so, discard.

Make sure there is a readable label on all pesticide containers. If a container isn't labeled or you can't read the label dispose of the can to prevent possible misuses. Discard any lumpy or caked materials.

Check your garden spreader. If it was put away with something still in it, rather than trying to guess if it fertilizer or weed killer, discard the leftovers.

Safe Disposal
In disposing of leftover pesticides, Mrs. Nelson cautions against careless handling. Whatever the container, a broken bag or an aerosol can, wrap the pesticide securely in plenty of old newspaper. Put the package in the bottom of the trash can—not the garbage can—to be hauled to the town or city sanitary land fill where children, pets and other animals will not be able to get into it.

Dispose of any pesticide you won't need this year. Remember that chemical recommendations may change, and the insecticide you used last year may not be recommended for this season.

household and garden pests. The agent can tell you what chemical is recommended and how and where to use the material for best results.

Look for an appropriate place to store the pesticides you plan to keep and any new supplies you purchase. Convenient storage is desirable, but with pesticides, security and safety are more important. Look for places that are well out of reach of children. Even if you don't have youngsters in the family, you need to make sure all pesticides are out of reach of visiting children and those who may wander into an open garage or back porch.

Worker Wants to Discourage Unwanted Company at Lunch

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to know whether you think I am anti-social, abnormal or just plain nuts.

To put it simply, I'm one of those people who does not need people — at least I don't need them every minute of every day. I work in a busy office and my job requires that I talk constantly — either on the phone or face to face.

I look forward to lunch — alone — so I can reflect on some quiet thoughts and relax. But eight times out of 10 I cannot get away with it. Somebody always finds me in the corner of the cafeteria or restaurant and sits down. Usually the opener is, "I see you are alone —" as if this is the worst thing that can happen to a person.

Why don't folks realize that when they see a gal eating solo it's a safe bet she wants it that way? Please print my letter. It might help others who feel as I do. — Like My Own Company

Dear Like: If you really want to be left alone, sit with your face to the wall and prop up this newspaper in front of your eyes.

Then if some clod tries to sit down in the face of such obvious discouragement, hold up your notebook and pencil (which you should keep handy for the purpose) and say, "Sorry — work to do. I can't afford the luxury of a visit today."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have just about decided that most of the people in the world are imbeciles. Please tell me how to deal with them.

Our daughter, Sarah, married the installation dinner was Mrs. at the age of 28. For at least James Mech.

five years before she married yet? Please give me an Ann all I heard from friends and Landers-type comeback for these donkeys. — Fed Up

Dear Fed: Tell the donkeys straight away that no girl ever got married or had a baby because her mother suggested it. If they look surprised suggest that they try it on their own daughters and see what happens.

Are you at war with your parents? Do they have too much to say in your life? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

You tell Sarah to hurry up and get herself married?"

You know very well, Ann Landers, a mother can't say to her daughter, "Get married." Why don't people realize this?

Sarah has been married four years now and I'm getting more foolish chatter from friends, relatives and neighbors. First they ask, "Is Sarah still working?"

When I reply, "Yes, she is," they say, "Why don't you tell her to quit work and have a grandbaby for you?"

Isn't that the dumbest thing

When Wisconsin Elks go to convention, they take their wives along. The result is a fine time for everyone. Appleton Elks Lodge 337 was host this year to the state organization, and a full agenda was planned for the Friday, Saturday and Sunday meeting.

Just for the women, a luncheon and program were arranged at 1 p.m. Saturday at Butte des Morts Golf Club. Mrs. E. A. Fetting presented "Memories of Siam" in a musical program that included songs from "The King and I".

A Luncheon program for women who came along to the Wisconsin Elks Association 64th annual convention took place Saturday at Butte des Morts Golf Club. Talking as the event got underway, above, are Mrs. Herbert Grauman, Sheboygan; Mrs. Raymond Max, Appleton; Mrs. Kenneth Sullivan, Madison, and Mrs. Frank Lynde, Green Bay. At right, dancing during the Saturday evening party, are Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Spector and Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCrary. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Cause of Consumer Taken Up In Panel Talks at Madison

BY JUDY ST. JOHN
Post-Crescent News Service

President Johnson's Special Assistant for Consumer Affairs, Mrs. Esther Peterson, was present when the state of Wisconsin took steps to form a Consumer Council Saturday in Madison. Mrs. Peterson was guest speaker at a day long Conference on Consumer Affairs sponsored by Attorney General Bronson La Follette and held at the Wisconsin Center.

In five panel presentations throughout the day, experts explored credit buying, packaging and advertising, consumer fraud, consumer representation and consumer education.

Atty. General La Follette said in his welcoming address to more than 250 representatives of business, government and other agencies, and educators, that he hoped the conference would lead to the formation of a "voice for the consumer in our state." At the end of the sessions La Follette appointed a chairman for an ad hoc committee to form a consumer group. Edward Magdoli, editor of a consumer information magazine published by a credit union organization, was named chairman.

Mrs. Peterson paid tribute to La Follette when she spoke at the Saturday luncheon. He has served conscientiously and well as a member of the President's Consumer Advisory Council, she said.

Self-Regulation

The special assistant in her talk traced the 2½-year history of the national council and expressed great pleasure in the progress of some industries toward regulating themselves to that he hoped the consumer better. A textile industry advisory committee, for example, last week encouraged its members to sew permanent care labels in garments.

She was even more jubilant about the vote in congress Friday to move the controversial Hart "Truth in Packaging" bill out of the Senate Commerce Committee. "This is indeed a big step forward," said Mrs. Peterson.

Indicate Progress

The president's assistant told of other hopeful signs in consumer interest legislation and representation. But progress at the national level, she said, is not enough. "The consumer must be heard at the state capitol, as well."

Mrs. Peterson said that she was surprised to learn that Wisconsin has no consumer council and no bureau for consumer protection against fraud. It is vital that consumer groups be as effectively organized as the special interest lobby groups that represent business, she said. These groups have been tremendously successful in the past, but as Willard Wirtz put it recently, "The divine right of the successful is as false as the divine right of kings."

Council Purpose

The presidential assistant recommended that Wisconsin form a consumer council that will oversee consumer functions of existing government agencies; serve as a source of consumer expertise when policy is made; negotiate with business; provide a meeting ground for various consumer interest groups and provide a single place for consumers to turn when help is needed.

The formation of such a council, she pointed out, would not mean that consumer services in other agencies would be repeated. Rather, the council could coordinate these services and inform consumers of them.

Outagamie County members of the legal, medical and dental professions and their wives dined and danced Saturday evening at Riverview Country Club. The party was the second annual event planned for all three professional groups. At right, Dr. and Mrs. P. R. Bouressa, Kimberly, and Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Querol stop to pick up name tags. Below, Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Dean and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robertson chat before dinner. The party this year was planned under the chairmanship of the dental auxiliary. (Post-Crescent Photos)

When you wear bathing dress, erect does not mean stiff. Ideal awkward carriage is even less desirable than when you wear evening dress. More of it shows!

Unattractive in itself, awkwardness is the undoing of the figure. For it causes all sorts of unwanted curves and hollows. A flat chest and a bustle-in-the-back, for instance.

Shall we work to increase our gracefulness? The first step is to hold the spine erect. But

HEMORRHOIDS?

New formula works 5 ways for faster, longer-lasting relief!

In clinical tests of new M.P.O. — an advanced treatment for hemorrhoids (piles) — doctors reported "results were good to excellent" for 5 out of every 6 patients! M.P.O. works 5 ways for faster, longer-lasting relief:

1. Helps ease pain faster. You get more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients, including Benzocaine, than in the preparation you may now be using.
2. Helps shrink swollen tissues. M.P.O. quickly releases the proven vaso-constrictor, Ephed-

3. Sulfate, to reduce swelling.
3. Relieves embarrassing itch. M.P.O. is homogenized for faster absorption, faster relief.
4. Gives longer relief. A more temperature-stable base holds medication in place, prolongs relief-bringing action.
5. Fights danger of infection. Proven germ-killer Hexachlorophene combats bacteria.

M.P.O. is a development of Mentholatum Laboratories. Available in stainless ointment or suppositories at all drug counters.

Scientist Asks for Tests To Predict Birth Defects

DETROIT (AP) — A biophysicist with personal knowledge of the problems of birth defects has proposed the federal government spend $2 billion to develop tests to warn parents of possible malformations.

Dr. Leroy Augusten, 38, chairman of the Biophysics Department at Michigan State University, proposed the research.

Such problems are not just a question of medicine for Augusten, who says that his brother, David, 32, is a mongoloid.

"If we could save only one child from living a life of pain or complete mental incompetence, we would have achieved a tremendous success," he said in a speech Thursday before the Michigan Public Health Association.

It now is possible, Augusten said, to determine prior to conception whether parents may have children suffering from such disorders as muscular dystrophy, cystic fibrosis, certain types of diabetes, and certain types of mongolism.

But, he said, tests should be developed to detect the possibility of malformations of the central nervous system, types of heart defects, blindness due to glaucoma, and others.

"It should be up to the federal government to develop the tests," Augusten stated. "But it should be the job of the local and state organizations to see that these tests are made available."

comparable to, say, the change from a pound of hog on the hoof to a pound of pork on the counter. A head of lettuce is a head of lettuce is a head of lettuce.

The farmer will be getting about 33 cents for a dozen eggs at year end, according to the same projections. But you'll be paying an average of 52-54 cents for these eggs. Eggs don't go through a transformation either. An egg is an egg is an egg.

A pound of potatoes should be bringing the farmer 17 cents in the last quarter while you'll probably be paying 52-61 cents. The above observations apply to potatoes too.

Where does the money go between farm and store? It goes into all the operations lumped under "food market- ing": transportation, process- ing, packaging, displaying, ad- vertising, promoting, selling. It goes into an ever-widening number of store services: big parking lots, check-cashing, baby-sitting.

Cortisone Drug Okay
Under Doctor's Order

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor wanted me to take a cortisone drug but I refused. I am concerned about its side effects because I want to have another baby in the near future, and for other obvious reasons. Could you recommend some other drug? — L.C.

I think you are confusing what may happen when corti- sone is used for long periods with what will or won't happen from moderate use.

You can be sure that your doctor is perfectly aware of what side effects to guard against. I cannot see that moderate use of it has anything to do with another baby, and I don't know any other obvious reasons.

Cortisone, with proper medi- cal supervision, is a beneficial medication. It can do things which other drugs cannot do. I hope that you follow your doctor's advice, and leave it to him to see that you suffer no harmful side effects.

You are worrying without a good reason.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daugh- ter, who is 43, had a plantar wart on her foot. The doctor cut it out. Later she went to a skin specialist. He burned it out. On her last visit he said she has to go through the same thing again.

What do you suggest, or where does she go from here? Is it cancer? — Mrs. R. K.

No, a plantar wart is not cancer, but it can be one of the stubborn enemies of comfort. It is called a plantar wart because booklet, "Diabetes — The of its location, on the plantar Sneaky Disease." Please enclose portion of the foot, or the sole. A long, self-address, stamped/ Sometimes these warts can/envelope and 25 cents in coin to be subdued readily but the cover cost of printing and opposite is more often true, and handling.

risen so relentlessly — in times of falling as well as rising farm prices — that Congress in 1964 for a pound of lettuce in the established a National Commis- final quarter of 1966, according sion on Food Marketing and to authoritative projections. But ordered it to make an exhaus- the U.S. consumer will be probe into every aspect of paying an average retail price the spread. After more than a of 26-28 cents for the same year of investigation, the Com- lettuce. Lettuce doesn't go mission is slated to release its through a transformation be- findings June 30.

Of course, much of the rise in the spread between farm prices and retail food prices is easy to explain

Array of Services
On our side, we're demanding and getting an enormous array of services ranging from elabo- rate parking lots to dazzling display cases for perishables. We're trading up to more and more convenience foods, pre- cut, pre-cleaned, pre-frozen, all processes which cost money. We're generally buying more expensive meats, fruits, vegeta- bles.

On the marketer's side, there's no doubt that costs of most processing and marketing services have been increasing steadily. In food marketing firms, average hourly wages are 66 per cent above 1950. Also on the retailer's side, there are the inevitable hidden expenses of spoilage and trimming.

Relatively speaking, food re- mains a bargain, taking an average of only 18.2 cents of each of our after-tax dollars.

But the warning to the food industry, largest in our nation, is clear: with the Marketing Commission's report on the price spread coming up and with consumer resentment over food prices so widespread, it will be in a hot spotlight in coming months.

What's more, if a substantial percentage of the projected slide in farm prices is not reflected in declining food prices, the industry also could be on a hot spot.

Board Seeks 3 Cost Estimates For New School

Appleton Unit Wants Alternative Plans for Elementary Facility

The Appleton Board of Education Monday asked John Fieweger, a representative of Schutte, Phillips and Mochon, Milwaukee architectural firm, to have three separate preliminary cost estimates for the proposed Highlands Elementary School in Appleton ready by next Monday's board meeting.

Fieweger, upon a request made by the board last week, presented revised plans Monday which included the addition of an orthopedic therapy pool and a second instructional center. After considering the new plans, which would add from 9,000 to 13,000 square feet to the building, the board requested Fieweger to return next week with preliminary estimates for:

The original plans which included one instructional center on the second floor.

The original plans with the addition of the orthopedic therapy pool, and.

Plans which include the addition of the pool and another instructional center to the first floor layout.

The board hopes to complete viewing preliminary estimates and plans in time to present them for approval of the aldermen at the June 15 meeting.

Appleton Man To Face Shooting Count at Oconto

OCONTO — Dale Cappell, 33, Appleton, has been bound over to Oconto County Circuit Court for trial after arraignment Monday on charges arising from a shooting incident about seven miles west of Mountain at 2 a.m. Sunday.

Cappell, Oconto County authorities allege, fired 30.06 rifle through a window of a cabin occupied by nine men. Donald Deistler, Little Chute, suffered glass cuts and was treated at the Oconto Falls hospital.

Authorities said Cappell was staying with his wife and children in a cabin adjacent to the one entered by the bullet.

Cappell was arraigned in Suring Municipal Court and was freed under $2,000 bond. He faces charges of causing injury by reckless use of fire arms, endangering the safety of others by reckless use of a gun and intentionally firing a gun into an occupied building.

Paper Firm Executive Asks Pressure by Taxpayer Units

S. A. Casey Cites Steps for Sound Tax Structure

"If the profit motive is an incentive for business to do a good job, then the incentive for government to do a good job would be a compelling pressure to have government live within the income from its existing tax structure as financed by the growing tax base and a good governmental climate."

That pressure can only come from groups such as the Appleton Taxpayers Association, Samuel A. Casey, president of the Nekooa - Edwards Paper Co., declared at the eighth annual dinner meeting of the Appleton group Monday night at Reetz's Supper Club.

Casey, who served on the committee of 25, said, "Expansion of total job opportunities can come only with the expansion of the state's productive and business plant. There cannot be an employee until there is an employer. With the growing population we need a growing number of jobs if we are to keep our people here after they become productive and taxpaying citizens."

"No matter how much we need certain public services, no matter what the demands are — and certainly you and I as taxpayers want to provide every necessary public service — it must be recognized that taxes cannot be increased indefinitely. Eventually the budget must remain within the bounds of

Taxpayer Group Names Directors At Yearly Parley

Four new directors were named by members of the Appleton Taxpayer's Association at the eighth annual meeting Monday night at Reetz's Supper Club.

New directors are Cyrus Rachie, vice president and general counsel for AAL; Thomas Lally, systems manager for Miller Electric; Robert Parnell, production scheduler for Tuttle Press, and Alvin Golz, assistant vice president at Appleton State Bank.

Directors re-elected to their second terms were John McKenzie, A. C. Braun Jr., and Ed Mertens. Nominating committee members were Fred Bach, chairman; Lloyd Taylor and Gerhardt K. Willecke.

Directors also named new officers Monday night. Mabel R. McClanahan, business manager, and corporation secretary of Crane Engineering, Inc., was named president to succeed John McKenzie. Other officers are Braun, vice president; Mrs. Marilyn Taylor, secretary, and Harry Kostitzke, treasurer.

McKenzie summarized the year's activities at the annual business meeting. John M. Hayes, a director of the group and master of ceremonies, pointed out that the Appleton Taxpayers Association is a voluntary citizens group dedicated to getting the best government at the lowest cost through eliminating waste, duplication and inefficiency.

Joseph 'Banana' Bonanno Surrenders to Officers

Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno, Sept. 1, 1964 at the age of 74 wearing a gray-blue suit and horn-rimmed glasses. The husky underworld figure was accompanied by attorney Albert J. Kreger.

Bonanno, according to an Associated Press account, stood mute when reporters asked if he had anything to say. Kreger said Bonanno "has no statement to make at this time."

While the grand jury is anxious to question Bonanno, he is also being sought by the Italian government. In February he was one of 17 Sicilians and Italian Americans ordered to stand trial by the Italian government for criminal association in an international super-gang reportedly linking the Sicilian Mafia and the American Costa Nostra.

Police Plan Country, Western Program

The Appleton Professional Policemen's Association will sponsor the third annual country and western show June 16 at Appleton Senior High School.

Association members said today that telephone soliciting will be carried on in connection with the show. Persons doing the calling will not be policemen, but will represent the association, it was noted.

DiBella also used to visit Bonanno in New York and Arizona in recent years.

DiBella's estate is still in probate in county court at Fond du Lac and estimates are it will exceed $1.5 million. He died

4 Trustees Added to Board For Lawrence University

Seven Gain Tenure Rank At Lawrence

Two of Faculty Promoted to Full Professorships

Seven Lawrence University faculty members were raised to ranks which carry academic tenure, at the annual meeting of the board of trustees Monday.

Dr. William A. Chaney, who holds the George M. Steele chair in Western Culture, and Dr. Thomas E. Wenzlau, who holds the John McNaughton chair in economic studies, have both been promoted to full professorships.

Newly appointed to the associate professor rank are Dorrit Friedlander, German; Dr. Ronald Mason, anthropology; Theodore Rehl, music; Dr. William Sanders, mathematics; Dr. Richard Stowe, French; and Dr. Ronald Tank, geology.

Completed Doctorates

Two men who have recently completed their doctorates have been named to the assistant professor rank: Dr. Bradley J. Nickels in art history and Dr. John M. Stanley in religion. The board approved the promotion of five others, pending completion of the doctor's degree.

Four senior faculty members who will retire from the Lawrence staff in June were voted the rank of professor emeriti: Dr. Gladys S. Calbick, Spanish; Dr. Stephen F. Darling, chemistry; Dr. W. Paul Gilbert, physics; and Olga A. Smith, biology.

Escapée Picked Up By Menasha Police On Leaving Tavern

MENASHA — Menasha police Monday night apprehended one of two men who walked away Thursday from the Wisconsin State Reformatory's Oneida honor camp, Outagamie County.

Thomas Zimmerman, 22, formerly of Menasha and Appleton, was taken into custody as he left a tavern on Main Street about 11:10 p.m. He was being held this morning for Brown County authorities, who indicated they would arrange to return him to the reformatory, situated south of Green Bay.

A 1954 model automobile Zimmerman was in possession of when he was arrested was being checked for ownership. It was registered to a Milwaukee resident. A broken window indicated that it might have been stolen, police said.

Questioning by police at other taverns in the area indicated Zimmerman had been accompanied by a woman and another man. The man fit the description of Roland Fuller, 23, Portage County, who walked away from the reformatory camp with Zimmerman last week. Zimmerman admitted that he was with Fuller Monday night, but gave no hint as to his present whereabouts. The woman was not identified.

Teacher Corps Applications Being Sought

A total of 3,000 applicants is needed by the National Teacher Corps to reach and teach the children of poverty, according to A. P. Engebretson, district manager of the Appleton-Neshan-Menasha office of the Wisconsin State Employment Service.

Established by the Office of Education in the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, National Teacher Corps members will supplement the regular teaching staff in schools which have a large enrollment of students from low income families.

Engebretson said that both experienced and inexperienced teachers are needed. Minimum requirement is a bachelor's degree in any field to qualify as a teacher-interim. A teaching certificate is not required for a ment Monday afternoon that several switch lamps were broken in the switch yards north of State 125, just west of Appleton.

Authorities were continuing investigation this morning.

Vocational School Heads Hit Criteria for Area Districts

Valley Spokesmen Say Rules Too Stringent, Seek Changes

BY FERN SMITH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SHEBOYGAN — The prospect that the current criteria for establishment of area vocational districts will be the final criteria brought sharp protests from vocational school directors and board members in the Fox Valley-Lake Shore area Monday night.

C. L. Greiber, state director of vocational education, told 12 directors and 22 board members meeting in informal session at the Executive Inn here that the standards worked out by Richard Whinfield, assistant state vocational director, will be recommended to the state vocational board May 24. "There is a very strong possibility that they will be accepted," the director said.

A state law passed last year requires that the whole state be divided into large vocational districts by 1970, each including a new vocational technical institute. The state vocational board however, has indicated it will make the final districting decision by mid-June.

15 Districts Planned

"Unless something happens to change the criteria, this is going to provide about 15 districts in Wisconsin," Greiber said.

"There will be an expansion of service in local vocational and technical schools within the state and there may be some consolidation of districts. Some people like it and some people do not — but the directors asked for this and we will have to live with it and work with it until we have a type of vocational and technical education which meets space age needs."

The directors and board members clearly indicated in an open discussion following Greiber's review of the present status of vocational area development that they were not happy about the way "things were going."

The thinking of the directors and board members from 12 vocational districts took form in a resolution which will be forwarded to Greiber today.

Copies are to be sent to Gov. Warren P. Knowles, each member of the State Vocational Board, Angus B. Rothwell, chairman of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCH), and members of the CCH.

Criteria Too Stringent

The resolution stated in rough draft: "The present criteria for the area development of technical institutes is too stringent. We asked that the standards committee return to the plan set on Nov. 11, 1963 which provided for 20 area schools

Court Grants Divorce To Appleton Woman

Kathryn Joranson, 48, 306 E. South River St., Monday received a divorce from Philip R. Joranson, 51, Washington, D.C. She charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

The case was heard before Circuit Judge Andrew Parnell. The couple was married Aug. 10, 1940 and had no children. A property settlement was approved and Joranson is to pay $65 a week alimony.

Tuition Help

Six Years' Payments for Damages Returned to Youth

A portion of next year's college tuition for an Appleton youth will come from restitution payments he has been making for damage he did to an industrial plant six years ago.

On April 20, 1960, a 12-year-old youth was caught and admitted damaging three large plate glass windows with a BB gun. An agreement was worked out where the boy would make $300 restitution.

Last Payment Made

He has made small monthly payments to the juvenile bureau at the Appleton Police Department since 1960.

When the last payment was within the state. Further, that serious consideration be given to all protests and proposals which have been sent to director C. L. Greiger and members of the State Vocational board when it meets in Madison on Tuesday, May 24."

The criteria, which the directors and their boards are finding too stringent, provides that each district:

— Contain a population base of 237,500.

— Produce a minimum of 3,800 high school graduates each year.

— Provide tax support from a $500 million assessed valuation to construct, if necessary, a central vocational school with a minimum full-time enrollment of 920 students.

Greiber reiterated that five existing schools meet these standards now, and that three or four more would qualify by 1970.

Items of Concern

Some items of grave concern to the Fox Valley-Lake Shore vocational spokesmen were:

— Concentration of the new program into too few districts to give the intended service.

— A population base of 237,500 is unrealistic. Criteria from other states are based on

Association Hits Building of Stations

Oil Companies Plan for Three Locations on Wisconsin Avenue

Construction of three new service stations on W. Wisconsin Avenue is being planned by major oil companies in the wake of opposition by the Northside Advancement Association.

Intended sites for the projects are: —one estimated to be a $150,000 undertaking —are: —The northeast corner of Wisconsin Avenue and Meade Street, the site presently occupied by the Gay Spot tavern.

—Southeast corner of Gillett Street and Wisconsin Avenue where it is planned to remove three residences.

—Southeast corner of Douglas Street and Wisconsin Avenue.

One Site Approved
The proposed layout for the new filling station at Meade-Wisconsin has already been approved by the plan commission and council. However, no construction date has been set.

Construction of the two other stations is contingent on favorable action being taken by the plan commission.

For the Gillett-Wisconsin facility the city has been petitioned to waive rear yard requirements. It would appear a compromise arrangement is being worked out.

Dimes Chapter Sets Meeting

William Russell From National Foundation Scheduled to Speak

The annual meeting of the Outagamie chapter of the National Foundation-March of Dimes will be tonight at Butte des Morts Country Club.

Attending the dutch treat dinner meeting will be members of the board of directors and representatives of Outagamie County organizations which have worked for the March of Dimes in 1966. Tony Van Bostel is in charge of dinner arrangements.

Principal speaker will be William R. Russell, director of chapters for the National Foundation since 1963.

3,100 Chapters
Russell presently coordinates volunteer services of some 3,100 chapters of the March of Dimes, and directs the work of the National Foundation field representatives.

On the agenda for tonight's meeting are the report from Fred Reiter, 1966 campaign chairman for Outagamie County; election of new board members, and recognition of those who have served in this year's campaign.

Attorney James Heibbe, chairman of the Outagamie County chapter, will preside.

Complaints Aired

Union Official Requests Town Use of Day's Pay for Employees

Complaints of the city's sewer-maintenance crew were aired Monday at a meeting of the council's street-sanitation committee and officials of Teamsters Local 563.

Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer for Local 563, repeated the union request that the employees be paid for the one day they were "docked" in February when not reporting for work.

The four men called in sick according to Public Works Director Robert W. Bues, and he termed it "more than just a coincidence." Bues ordered the men not be paid that day.

Schlieve noted it was 23 degrees below zero on the day in question and said the men were sick and contacted their family doctors. He produced medical statements which the committee questioned.

Later the committee indicated it would pay one of the men. If the others are willing to sign a written statement that they were ill and saw a doctor, they will also be paid for the day, it was indicated.

A few aldermen felt the city's sick leave policy was being abused. Schlieve also requested that the sewer crew be reassigned back to the city garage instead of having to use the city sewage disposal plant as a base for daily operations.

Bues said he was opposed to shifting the men back to the city garage. The committee took no action.

At one point, Bues introduced a letter in which it was claimed sewers were not being cleaned adequately for the firm which is making television inspections of some municipal sewers.

Appleton Patrolman Finds One of Two Cars Stolen in City

Two cars were reported stolen during the night in Appleton. An Appleton patrolman on his way to work found one which was parked.

That car, owned by George Magnus, 225 N. Lawe St., was found in the 300 block of E. Washington Street. It was reported stolen at 7:40 a.m. Police were told the 1960 vehicle was taken from a driveway at the Magnus home after 10 p.m. Monday. The keys were in the car.

When the car was found, it was discovered that more than a half tank of gas had been used.

Oscar Miller, 205 E. Harris St., reported to police at 6 a.m. today that his 1962 Buick Special was taken from his garage. He said the garage door was closed, but not locked. The keys were in the car.

Police were told the yellow vehicle bears license number E 37-742.

Convention Squabble Ignites Committee

Buckley, Aldermen Tangle on Policy For Welfare Meetings, Conference

The scope of the city's mutual welfare problems and convention attendance policy controversy, ignited recently by Mayor George Buckley, broadened Monday during a meeting of the council's finance committee.

Triggering the latest round between Buckley and some aldermen who question the mayor's announced ban on municipal employee attendance at out-of-state meetings, were matters relating to monthly meetings of the City Welfare Association of Wisconsin and the Clerks and Finance Directors Conference at Eagle Waters, June 22-24.

There were these developments: Buckley, City Clerk Elden Broehm, Treasurer Ray Feuerstein and Finance Director Henry Schreve, along with Ald. Al Stoegebauer (4th) were authorized to attend the three-day parley at Eagle Waters Resort in northern Wisconsin.

Three Days
Ald. John MacDonald (7th) objected to having the city clerk attend the event for three days, claiming the program dealt with his duties on only the first day.

Mayor Buckley said, in his opinion, the city welfare director "will be having 12 days of vacation attending monthly meetings" and said the sessions "would probably be held at vacation and resort areas."

Several citizens had reported to the committee that the Appleton library was in a more convenient location.

James Greiner, head of the committee, said if Appleton would have a better library, services or arrangements, "it would be worth looking into."

Town residents presently participate in libraries of both Neenah and Menasha and assessments are based on the number of card holders in the communities.

Town Chairman Roland Kamp said the town would pick up only the assessment for one card per person and if citizens wanted library cards in more than one city they would have to pay for the duplicate services.

Mutual Problems
"It says right here the purpose of the meetings for welfare directors is to discuss mutual welfare problems and local, state and national legislation affecting the operation of municipal welfare departments," Tews said, referring to the letter sent to the mayor and committee.

Buckley said he had not wished I would have received that information," Buckley said.

Tews noted the welfare director had complied with the mayor's request to send him information and the committee considered the matter closed.

MacDonald, chairman of the council's personnel committee, said he was disturbed by the mayor's position because his group had authorized the city personnel committee to join a valley-wide personnel association that also holds monthly meetings which deal with mutual problems.

"Now if we are talking about municipal employees being out of the city, resulting in lost work days, I would say there should be limited attendance at the convention at Eagle Waters resort," MacDonald said.

With the convention booklet before him, MacDonald said he was talking about the office—not the individual—when he questioned why it would be necessary for the clerk to be out of the city for three days.

MacDonald claimed the program for the first day only directly concerned the clerk's duties.

Noting that Mayor Buckley said he was going to fly to Eagle Water Resort and attend the first day session, MacDonald suggested he take the clerk with him and back for that one day.

"I don't think the clerk would stay any longer than he has to," remarked Ald. George Schwarzbauer (10th).

A $27,971 budget for the school year 1966-67 was adopted Monday by the Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) Board of Control. This is $938 less than the 1965-66 budget.

The major portion of the budget, $18,700, is allocated for salaries. Other major expenses, including travel expenses for the coordinator, office rent and board expenses, add up to $4,450.

In other business the board approved the contract of Dianne Howard, who will graduate this June in speech correction from Wisconsin State University-River Falls.

She will be working in New London and Manawa.

Holmes Lashes Aldermen for Ignoring List

MENASHA — Nine of the city's 12 aldermen were taken to task Monday night by Mayor Kenneth Holmes for failing to submit priority lists of future city projects to him.

The mayor said he has received two written lists and one verbal statement outlining aldermen's opinions of the relative importance of several projects and suggested means of undertaking them.

The mayor had asked that each alderman submit such a list April 19 when he took office. "A month and a half should be ample time," he admonished the council.

He warned that unless he receives lists from the other aldermen, "I will endeavor to submit some sort of program and hope you will take it and consider it."

Noting that Mayor Buckley said he was going to fly to Eagle Water Resort and attend the first day session, MacDonald suggested he take the clerk with him and back for that one day.

"I don't think the clerk would stay any longer than he has to," remarked Ald. George Schwarzbauer (10th).

Executive Outlines Steps For Tax Basis

what the present tax structure will provide through the normal growth in the economy."

Healthy Economy To achieve a healthy economic climate Casey urged:

(1) "Adequate spending, budgetary and fiscal controls with an increase in the efficiency with which public services are provided; and

(2) "We must have tax revision of the type that will provide a broadened tax base and diversified sources of revenue and avoid excessive tax imposts on employment - producing enterprises."

Among areas of governmental operation and control that need correction he cited:

Our confused state debt picture. "We have a constitutional limitation of $100,000 on state debt but have circumvented the constitution to the debt is over $400 million. This is not good businesslike fiscal control."

Government organization at both the state and local level with a long list of overlapping and expensive duplication. He emphasized that strong taxpayer support will be necessary to get the anticipated recommendations from the Harold Froehlich, Outagamie County first district assemblyman, toward revision of highway aid distribution and to get the state's approach to debt on a realistic basis.

Local government. Wisconsin has more than 2,500 local units of government. 1,834 local government assessing units, laws which prevent counties from consolidating or from having more than one type of government. townships from doing anything about merging and municipalities from consolidating certain municipal services.

Aid formulas. "Wisconsin pays out more money per capita than its local units of government live in aids and shared taxes than within its income so far as it is, any other state." However, the school aid formula goes back to 1949. highway aid pays no public services."

Pentagon Expanding Viet Nam 'R and R'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials are planning to expand "rest and recuperation" programs for the troops in Viet Nam.

Servicemen in that Southeast Asian country now are entitled to a seven-day leave outside the country during their one-year tour of duty. They usually are sent to Japan, the Philippines, Thailand, Formosa and Hong Kong.

But now they may be flown back to Hawaii for a rest. Other countries outside of Viet Nam also may be added to the furlough list.

Coordinated administration of attention to traffic density, welfare aid formulas are anti-quoted.

These are some of the broad areas that I feel must get attention if we are going to get away from the situation in which, much as we try to disregard it, Wisconsin has the highest state and local taxes per $1,000 of personal income of any state in the union, ranks second in corporate income taxes, third in individual income taxes, and 18th in property taxes and would rank much higher if it were not for the very helpful property tax relief we have been paying out since 1963.

Realistic Debt Basis However, Casey pointed out there is real hope in the fact and efforts are being made to work on every one of the problems he had outlined. He specifically cited the work of the Harold Froehlich, Outagamie County first district assemblyman, toward revision of highway aid distribution and to get the state's approach to debt on a realistic basis.

All these are efforts in the right direction, but we would be less than realistic if we failed to recognize that there is a long way to go. The taxpayer must insist that it be done and must give vocal and effective support to the elective official willing to tackle the problem.

Youn organization, other organizations like yours, must provide this. You are the ones who must insist that government live within its income so far as it is, any other state. However, the school aid formula goes back to 1949. highway aid pays no public services."

population minimums of 100,000, they said.

Loss of local programs. What are we going to do with the adult programs?, they asked.

The Fox Cities five vocational schools, which meet the present criteria adequately, believe that the interim criteria of at least 500 students is too high.

If the Fox Cities were to develop any one of its existing five schools to provide post high school courses for 500 students, it could become the district central institute. What would happen to this school when the districts were formed, it was asked.

With no directors on the committee and few schools now fitting into the criteria, some local vocational heads feel the central state educational system may take over vocational training.

Thilmany, Agency Gain National Recognition

Chosen for Advertising Excellence; One of 10 Finalists From 2,000 Entries

KAUKAUNA — Thilmany, annual Andy Awards dinner Pulp and Paper Co. and its held at the New York Hilton advertising agency, The Jaqua last week.

The firm's trade papers advertising program was among the top 10 finalists in a field of 2,000 entries chosen for advertising excellence during the past year and was the only paper firm represented in the group of 108 finalists exhibited at the Andy Awards dinner.

Thilmany Representatives L. R. Graef, vice president for marketing, N. A. Zanzig, advertising and sales promotion manager, and R. W. Welch, eastern division manager, represented Thilmany at the dinner at which Hugh Downs of NBC served as master of ceremonies. Downs was the recipient of an award for "integrity in broadcasting" and it was in his acceptance remarks that he attacked "High Irritation" commercials.

He took broadcast advertisers callous and antiquated" comment to task for putting on "blind, mercenary, particularly the younger ones," he said "are insulted by the patronage implicit in this sea of video silliness, and there's mounting evidence that they are rejecting this kind of advertising."

The series of advertisements which won the recognition for Thilmany incorporates unusual photography and copy concepts based on the theme that "Nature Makes No Mistakes in Packaging" and are currently appearing in leading packaging publications.

important work of juvenile judge in such an office?" Judge O'Neill asked.

Judge O'Neill also indicated the juvenile court should have a more formal courtroom atmosphere to impress upon the youth the importance of the court.

Judge Wilke urged the county board look toward major developments instead of just temporary adjustments regarding the courtroom facilities. He suggested a long range study which should consider housing the courts in the same building and also possibly additional courtroom facilities in the Neenah-Menasha area.

Supv. Dan Luebke, Neenah, said the City of Neenah is considering a new municipal building and would include county facilities which could be leased to the county. He said the Neenah Council would like to meet with the county board's committee to discuss such action.

Similar Situation It was brought out that Rock County has courtroom facilities and judges in both its county seat at Janesville and at Beloit and Winnebago County is comparable to the situation.

It was also suggested that a competent architect and engineer be engaged to study the various possibilities at the courthouse and to submit a report.

One suggestion was made to construct a new building nearby for the welfare department which now uses almost all of the courthouse fourth floor except for the county board meeting room. Being considered as a stop gap measure is to allow Judge Sarres the use of the county board meeting room for a courtroom, the use of a committee room for his chambers and the use of one of the rooms used by the welfare department for his office staff.

Foreign Relations Addition To CIA Committee Expected

Armed Service Unit Probably Will Fight Considered Intrusion

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The leaks while the Foreign Relations Committee has become a committee is expected to approve a resolution to add three members to the seven-member Central Intelligence Agency watchdog committee.

But that will be only the world to "close up like clams," beginning of a long, hard road or worse than that, to lose their for the resolution which has lives."

been denounced by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services subcommittee responsible for overseeing the activities of the intelligence organization.

Under the usual procedure, the resolution next must go to the Senate Rules Committee. There a majority may bottle it up.

Collision With Russell
If it ever reaches the Senate, it will collide immediately with Russell, who captains the Senate's inner circle.

Russell, also head of the Armed Services Committee, has put his prestige on the line against the resolution which is supported by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Russell told the Senate Monday "There is no justification whatever for any committee to muscle in on the jurisdiction of the Armed Services Committee so far as the CIA is concerned."

At stake in the current controversy is the issue of whether the CIA has overstepped the bounds of its intelligence-gathering mission to influence foreign policy.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., sponsor of the resolution, says it has Russell called that contention "sheer poppycock."

"No Truth"
"There is simply not a scintilla of truth in such a charge," Russell said, "and not a single concrete case can be provided where it has done so."

The CIA, which Russell says has to stand mute when it is assailed because of the peculiar nature of its assignment, does not want any additional senators soaking up its secrets.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, touched on that point when he told the Senate Monday the watchdog group was distinguished by its infrequency of action.

British Seamen Warn Against Use of Navy

Attempt to Break Strike Will Result In Blacklisting Ship

LONDON (AP) — The National Union of Seamen warned Prime Minister Harold Wilson today it will take counteraction if he uses the Royal Navy to break the two-day-old seamen's strike.

As ships piled up in British ports, Bill Hogarth, general secretary of the 65,000-member union, said the seamen would let the navy move vessels from congested berths to "parking" areas.

But he added: "If the government tries to use the navy to move ships to another port for loading or for anything else which looks like strike breaking, we will immediately ask the dockers to black (blacklist) those ships."

Wilson said in a television broadcast Monday night that the government is ready to call on the navy if the strike produces a national emergency.

With food prices inching up, Wilson warned suppliers against exploiting the strike.

The seamen began their walk-out for a pay increase at midnight Sunday, immobilizing ships at ports throughout Britain.

If the strike continues, British ships will become strike-bound as they reach home ports at the rate of about 300 a week.

The seamen are demanding a 17 per cent increase. Basic wages are $42 for a 56-hour week.

250,000 Without Homes in Tashkent
MOSCOW (AP) — More than a quarter of a million persons in earthquake-riddled Tashkent are either homeless or living in damaged, unsafe buildings.

The Soviet paper Rural Life reported today it was the highest damage toll yet reported from the quake April 26 and subsequent tremors in the Soviet central Asian city.

House Subcommittee Wants Deactivation of Guard Units Postponed
WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Armed Services subcommittee wants the Defense Department to temporarily abandon plans to deactivate Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve units.

Deactivation plans should be deferred, the subcommittee report said, "until the Southeast Asia conflict is successfully resolved and until a thorough study of tactical airlift requirements for limited war is completed and approved by the Air Force and Department of Defense."

Nationwide Bargaining

AFL-CIO Wants General Electric To Talk With Union Advisers

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO insisted today that General Electric Co. enter into joint negotiations with eight unions seeking to coordinate nationwide bargaining for the firm's workers.

Responding to GE's refusal to meet with an eight-union bargaining group, an AFL-CIO spokesman said "We have the right to have anybody we damn well want" participate in the talks.

Chief company negotiator Phil D. Moore warned that the union tactics could bring on a major strike in the electrical industry this fall.

Moore, in a letter to John H. Callahan of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, accused the union of "subterfuge" in naming representatives of the seven other unions as advisors on an IUE negotiating committee.

The IUE and the seven other unions, trying to bargain for more than 180,000 GE and Westinghouse Electric Corp. workers, are drafting what reportedly will be a stiff reply to Moore's letter. The eight unions are seeking a substantial boost in estimated average wages of $2.80 per hour at GE and Westinghouse. The figure rises to $3.25 per hour when fringe benefits are added, according to union estimates.

The seven other unions in the joint bargaining effort are the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, United Auto Workers, International Association of Machinists, Sheet Metal Workers, Allied Industrial Workers, Federation of Technical Engineers and American Flint Glass Workers. They are backed by AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Wild River Supporters To Paddle-in HAYWARD (AP) — Protest marches and sit-ins, maybe, but now a protest paddle-in?

That's what supporters of wild river status for the Namekagon River plan June 5 — a protest procession by canoe.

The demonstration is aimed at dramatizing desires for speedy action by Congress on a bill that would preserve the St. Croix and Namekagon rivers in their natural state.

The Wisconsin resource Conservation Council is a sponsor of the 20-mile canoe trip planned down the Namekagon from Cable to Hayward.

Supporters reported Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., who proposed the wild river status, would participate in the canoe voyage.

Tony Wise, resort owner and leader in the protest, said, "Each year more of the river shore disappears as cottages spring up. By the time Congress acts, the river will be gone."

U. S. to Sell India Uranium for Power
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United States will sell India up to $100 million worth of enriched uranium for India's infant atomic power system, an informed American source said today.

This is the first time the United States has agreed to sell enriched uranium for peaceful purposes in Asia, although some sales have been made in Europe.

The agreement calls for sales over a 25-year period. India will pay in U.S. dollars and has agreed to standard U.S. Atomic Energy Commission safeguards modified to include a four-month transition period.

Treasury Publishes Tax Collection Rules
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department publishes today the final regulations for collecting personal income and Social Security taxes from employers twice a month instead of monthly.

The regulations contain no basic change from those announced last month, the department says. But they have been modified to include a four-month transition period.

GOP Senators Dispute Goldwater Forecast of Conservative Meeting

Former Chairman Foresees Power Struggle, Not Ideological Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lead-former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio battled today Barry Goldwater's contention that the 1968 GOP convention will be as conservative as the one which nominated him for president in 1964.

"That was a power struggle," said an official at the Republican National Committee. "It wasn't ideology."

Commercial Gambling Fine of $1,000 Levied Against Kenosha Man
KENOSHA (AP) — A figure in the 21-month-old John Doe probe after he pleaded guilty to two counts of commercial gambling.

Circuit Judge M. Eugene Baker levied the fine against Carl Scola, 64, a former Kenosha delicatessen owner. Scola was one of 11 men named in warrants issued after the probe last August.

Baker in remarks from the bench commented on what he called community indifference to gambling and said a new atmosphere that would not tolerate gambling was needed.

Morton said a more extreme conservatism prevailed in 1964. "Next time," he said, "I think we'll have a sort of balance, to the right of center."

Morton said that is what Goldwater was forecasting when he said Sunday on the CBS television-radio program "Face the Nation" that makeup of the 1968 convention would be no different than that of 1964.

Ever a Goldwater ally, Arizona Sen. Paul J. Fannin, said he doubts the 1968 convention will be a copy of the last one.

"I think it will probably be a more balanced convention," he said in a separate interview.

Morton, Scott and other Republicans indicated the 1968 convention could be similar in pattern to that of 1952, when

Will Receive Award at 1,000-Yard Club Dinner

Packers' Gregg Named Top Blocker

MENASHA (AP) — Forrest Gregg, a stalwart of the offensive line on the Green Bay Packers' awesome championship teams of the 1960s, was designated today as winner of the National Football League's 1965 Outstanding Blocker Award.

The durable 250-pound Texan, nine-year NFL veteran and All-League tackle who also played guard, was an overwhelming choice in a poll of 47 newspaper, radio and television writers and broadcasters representing the 14 league cities.

The award, originated by the National 1000 Yard Club Foundation, Inc., will be presented at the organization's third annual dinner at Sabre Lanes June 7.

Gregg received 50 out of a possible 141 points in the balloting, including 14 first place votes. Three points were awarded for a first place vote, two for second and one for third.

Parker Second

Jim Parker of the Baltimore Colts, recipient of the first outstanding blocker award last year, was runnerup. He polled 29 points, with five first place votes.

Rounding out the top 10 were: Bob Brown, Philadelphia Eagles, 23; Mike Ditka, Chicago Bears, 21; Mick Tinglehoff, Minnesota Vikings, 19; Fuzzy Thurston, Green Bay, 16; Jerry Kramer, Green Bay, 15; Dick Schaffath, Cleveland Browns, 12; Ken Gray, St. Louis Cardinals, and Paul Hornung, Green Bay, each 11.

Thirty-one players received mention.

Gregg, former Southern Methodist football captain, has first place in Division 2 doubles at the Woman's International Bowling Congress Tournament. Mrs. Porter, a ceramics instructor, had a 174-189-210-573 Monday and Mrs. Riggins, a real estate agency bookkeeper, rolled a 527. Division 2 is for bowlers with averages of 150 or below.

In Division 2 singles, Mrs. Porter fired a 560, giving her 10th place in that category. She had games of 168-213-179.

Another change in standings occurred in Division 1 doubles, where Ruby Hodgson of Valley to aid worthwhile youth activities. Primarily, it recognizes NFL players who gain 1,000 yards or more rushing in one season.

OHS Wins First Track Title Since 1935; AHS Fifth

Bill Oaks Vaults 14 Feet; Maves, Hendriks Triumph for Terrors

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

GREEN BAY — Bill Oaks, the best pole vaulter in Wisconsin prep history and a clutch high-jumper, as well, sparked Green Bay East Oshkosh High School to its first Fox River Valley Conference track and field title in 31 years here Monday night.

The mighty mire (5-foot-7) soared skyward on a mighty, 14-foot vault — shattering the conference record — and also uncorked the winning high jump of six feet. Oaks accounted for half the first places logged by the well-balanced Indians, who ended Appleton's title reign at three years.

OHS, in winning its second league track crown in history, outlasted Manitowoc and Sheboygan North in a spirited 3-way title scrap. The Ken Potterton-coached Indians compiled 46 points to 38 for Manti and North.

Fond du Lac nosed out AHS for fourth place, 26 to 25. Making up the second division were a surprising Green Bay Southwest team, with 20; Green Bay West, 11; Green Bay East, Oshkosh High School to its first and Preble, eight each; and Sheboygan South, four.

Oshkosh, which trailed North and Manitowoc most of the evening, scored prolifically in the last two events to win the meet. The Indians racked up eight points in the pole vault, as senior Bill Oaks finished first and his sophomore brother, John, took fourth; and won the key 880-yard relay impressively.

Appleton High School produced two of the individual champions. Gerard Hendriks won the 440-yard run in 52 seconds flat, and Tom Maves, raced to the half-mile victory in 2:01.5 — one of the fastest 880s ever run in FRVC competition.

AHS' Geoff Garrett, who sought a third straight mile run title, was dethroned by Southwest's Greg Aubinger.

Six of the 10 teams took first place in a rare display of league balance.

Bill Oaks' power vault eclipsed his own 1965 FRVC record by 1 1/2 feet.

Other new records were set by North's Tim Seifert and by the North mile relay unit. Seifert blasted the shot put record by four feet with a mighty toss of 60 feet, 5 inches. The old mark was 56-5, set by East's Bob Freimuth in 1961.

North's mile relays — Mike Skeris, Joel Grosshuesch, Glen Hilpertson and Bill Moir — breezed to a 3:33.6 clocking to better OHS' 1965 record by 1.2 seconds.

4 Others in Peril

The fans who gathered in East Stadium on an uncommonly pleasant evening, saw at least four other outstanding achievements that just missed the record class.

Maves' 880 performance was only .003 over the 20-year old conference standard of 2:01.2, set by East's Roer Holz.

Fond du Lac's John Zoellie, the only double winner, other than Bill Oaks, rocketed to a .09.9 clocking for the 100-yard dash. The record is .09.8 by North's Richie Athan.

OHS' George Dahl zoomed to a 20-second showing in the 180-

Leo Durocher Unhappy With Cub Catchers

Stanky Worried About His Veterans Striking Out Often

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, who have won only six out of 26 games and are in the throes of their second four-game losing streak, had Monday off and so did the White Sox, who are 4 1/2 games off the pace in the American League.

The Cubs open a three-game home stand today with the Houston Astros, who are second in the National League chase, 3 1/2 games behind San Francisco. The Cubs have elected Ernie Broglio (1-2) for mound duty and the Astros will counter with Dave Gusti (3-2).

The Sox open a three-game set tonight with the Minnesota Twins, sending Joe Horlen (1-3) against Jim Kaat (3-3).

Voices Displeasure

Cub manager Leo Durocher took time Monday to voice his displeasure with the way catcher Randy Hundley and Chris Krug are handling the pitchers.

"They've been giving the same target all the time," he said. "They hold the glove right in the middle of the plate above the knees. They keep the target there even though the pitch is supposed to be inside, outside or even high."

"Maybe, that's the way they teach them to catch nowadays. But Roy Campanella, Wes Westrum, Gus Mancuso and all the other catchers I had years ago would give the target where they wanted the pitch to be. I'd like to have Hundley and Krug do it that way, especially with young pitchers like we have."

Stanky Not Worried

Meanwhile, manager Eddie Stanky of the Sox says he is not worried about Tommie Agee's strikeout record. The rookie leads the club in strikeouts with 29.

"I'm more concerned with several veteran players who also are striking out too much," said Stanky. "Agee is a young player. You've got to expect him to strike out. It's the other fellows who worry me."

Stanky didn't mention names, but Pete Ward must be one of them. He has fanned 19 times in 168 official at-bats.

Must Post Security Bond

Roller Grants Stay to Baseball, NL, Pending Supreme Court Appeal

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Circuit Court Judge Elmer W. Roller granted his order directing the National League to return the Braves from Atlanta to Milwaukee by Wednesday, and ordered baseball to post a $100,000 security bond pending an appeal to the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Baseball said it had no intention of embarking on a court-ordered expansion course and said the return of the Braves to Milwaukee was impossible.

Wisconsin replied with a threat to slap baseball with contempt of court citations.

Prevented Crisis

But Wisconsin Supreme Court justices prevented a crisis from developing Monday when they agreed to an early review of the case. June 9 was fixed as the date for arguments.

The decision opened the way for Roller to suspend his judgment pending the outcome of the appeal.

Roller had refused to back down on the judgment's effective date last week. He insisted that Milwaukee would suffer grave harm should he stay his command and an appeal of the case not be heard until fall.

He said he would reconsider should the Supreme Court agree to an early review.

Can Fix Cash Bond

The judge, should he grant a stay, has authority to fix a cash bond. Such a step could be used to force compliance with court orders should baseball lose its appeal.

The June hearing date makes it possible for a Supreme Court decision to be handed down by the All-Star break in the baseball schedule. The game will be played July 12.

The appeal to the State Supreme Court is unlikely to bring an end to the case that opened when suit was filed last August.

The loser before the State Supreme Court is almost certain to appeal, perhaps directly to the U.S. Supreme Court.

No Decision On 16th Team, Rozelle Says

Deny Raising Goal Posts Connected With Chandler's FG

By JACK HAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 16th team in the National Football League still is Team X and will not be named until some time before the college draft.

Pete Rozelle, NFL commissioner, insisted today that the owners had made no decision on the expansion club and would not make any at the spring meetings that opened Monday.

"We have no deadline," he said but admitted it should be before the draft.

"We are having representatives of the seven cities in here Wednesday," said Rozelle. "They will bring us up to date on stadium plans and make their presentations. We are very proud of the caliber of people who are coming, including governors and mayors."

Best Sales Pitch

Houston, New Orleans, Los Angeles, Wash., Cincinnati, Baltimore, Portland, Ore., and Phoenix. Arizona are due to make their best sales pitch to the owners. Each will have 15 minutes to tell his story.

Rozelle expects Team X to be ready to field a ball club for the 1967 season. The league will be divided into an Eastern Conference and Western Conference with each conference split into two four-club divisions. That will set up playoffs for each conference title before the American League championship game.

The NFL studied means of Minnesota's 1965 pennant season winning the all-out talent war with the AFL, expected to flare up next fall. A central scouting system with pooled information on college athletes was discussed.

The league decided to extend the goal posts 20 feet above the cross bar to help officials in making calls on field goals.

The league denied there was any connection between the innovation and the disputed field goal by Don Chandler of Green Bay in last season's playoff game with Baltimore. The Colts claimed the field goal was no good, but the Packers won 13-10 and went on to beat Cleveland for the title.

Camilo First in AL to Get Six Wins

Pascual Pitches Twins to 2-1 Victory

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS year, the way he's been throwing. "Camilo Pascual, once again," said Mele. "He definitely looks like the Camilo of old."

"His curve may not be quite as overpowering as it once was, and he may not strike out as many as he used to, but he's winning again for us and that's the big thing."

Pascual, who won 20 games in 1962 and 21 in 1963, isn't striking out as many batters as he did a few years ago, but he isn't walking as many, either. In 50 innings, he's struck out 27, walked only 11 and has a 2.52 earned run average.

Didn't Walk Any Monday, he struck out three and didn't walk a man for the third time this season.

From 1961 through 1964, Pascual struck out over 200 batters every year, averaging 211. He also walked an average of 85 men over that four-year span.

"Yes, I'm pitching differently this year," Pascual confided Monday. "I'm trying to make the batter hit the ball, not strike him out. Strikeouts look fine in the paper, but what do they mean if you don't win?"

Damage Repaired

Camilo, now 32 and in his 13th season in the Major Leagues, had an 8-1 record last year before arm troubles began. At first, the ailment was diagnosed as a fatty growth on the muscles just behind his right pitching arm. But when the surgeon got inside, he found torn muscles instead.

The damage was repaired early last August, and Pascual didn't get back into action until late September. He managed to win one more game in 1965, but lost twice for a 9-3 log.

He was virtually no use to the Twins in their seven-game World Series loss to Los Angeles because he couldn't control the curve. He started one game against the Dodgers and was slugged for eight hits and three runs.

Nicklaus Wins Something Extra — $5,000

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus may not be too successful at winning the Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament, but picking up the tournament's lagniappe is growing into a habit.

Lagniappe — a Louisiana Cajun word meaning a little something extra — is the Seymour Weiss All-America Gold Cup worth $1,500 and the $5,000 in cash that goes with it. It is given to the combined low scores in the U.S. Open, PGA Masters and Greater New Orleans Open tournaments.

Weiss, a retired hotelman, has put up the prize for the past two years and the Ohio strongboy has racked it up both times. Nicklaus finished in a deadlock for third in the GNOO and wound up just two strokes ahead of Billy Casper in the Cup standings.

Casper received $2,500 for the runner-up spot and Doug Sanders, who placed third, got $1,000 in prize money.

Chandler Advises NL Not to Ignore Order

Claims Decision in Wisconsin Deserves Full Faith, Credit

VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP) — Former baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler said Monday it "wouldn't be a wise decision" if baseball should ignore a Wisconsin court order to return the Braves to Milwaukee or give the city another team.

Chandler said baseball was risking its traditional exemption from federal antitrust statutes dating back to a U.S. Supreme Court ruling in 1922 that baseball was then a sport and not a business.

"The United States is a country of laws," Chandler said. "We teach that we must follow the laws, and we must. At the moment the courts have ruled against baseball."

Will Ignore Order

"I see where the new commissioner (William Eckert) says baseball will ignore the order. It wouldn't be a wise decision, I don't think."

He said baseball through the years has tried to keep the question of its exemption from antitrust litigation out of the courts. "I don't know why baseball was granted this exemption from 1915 through 1951."

Pick Sullivan As Coach of New NHL Team

PITTSBURGH (AP) — George (Red) Sullivan, a battler through nine years as a player in the National Hockey League, doesn't intend to change that approach in his new job as coach of Pittsburgh's expansion NHL team.

Sullivan indicated he would start immediately to round up a "representative team" after signing a three-year contract as Pittsburgh's coach Monday.

"We intend to select (in the league's special expansion draft) the best 20 players we can get, regardless of position, and build from there," Sullivan said.

Both Sullivan and Jack Riley, who was named Monday as general manager of the new team, feel the NHL is giving them a better break than football and baseball gave its expansion teams.

Sullivan, who played two years with Boston, two with Chicago and five with New York, has been coaching almost continuously since he finished his 1961. He was a player-coach in the New York Rangers for three years before being released last December.

Twins Shade Senators, 2-1

Without that big curve Pascual was just another pitcher because it left him with only his fast ball. He throws nothing else to speak of.

"That's all a thing of the past," Pascual said of his arm trouble. "My arm feels stronger than ever, and I feel good."

Pascual bused Phil Ortega in a mound duel Monday. Ortega allowed only eight spaced hits, but got into trouble in the ninth when the Twins loaded the bases on singles by Harmon Killebrew and Bernie Allen, plus an intentional walk to pinch-hitter Don Mincher.

Winning Run

Then Senator rookie reliever Casey Cox, who replaced Ortega after Allen's hit, walked the Twins' Cesar Tovar on four straight pitches to force home the winning run.

Tovar drove in Minnesota's first run with a sacrifice fly following Zoilo Versalles' triple in the third inning. Washington tied it in the fourth on Jim King's first home run of the season.

The Twins' victory over the Senators was the only major league game scheduled Monday.

Weyauwega Captures BABA Win in 10th

Nips New London; Symco and Iola Also Triumph

MARION — The Southern Central division of the BABA opened its season Sunday. Symco edged Greenville, 3-1. Weyauwega edged New London, 7-6, in 10 innings; and Iola beat Scandinavia, 15-11.

Rosholt, which joined the league this week, will play the bye team each week and will play its makeup opener on Memorial Day.

Frank Leischow got the win for Symco allowing five hits fanning 22 and walking seven. Loser Gene Schlender also allowed only five hits. Symco scored all three runs in the third inning on a walk, a stolen base, back-to-back doubles by Tom Hoffman and Mike Allen and an infield out. Greenville scored their only run in the seventh.

Weyauwega broke a 6-6 tie in the top of the 10th as Bill Carew singled, Jim Baehman hit a fielder's choice, Rick Birkholtz and Jack Wohldt singled. Wega had tied it in the ninth, scoring two runs on three errors and three singles.

Jack Kapitzke, who relieved Dave Koehler in the sixth, got Vern Freemore added two sin-hits, and walked two. Kapitzke forth combined on the mound didn't allow a hit but walked for Seymour, limiting De Pere five.

Gary Glocke, who relieved Jim Pettritto in the eighth was De Pere at 4 p.m. Thursday in the loser. They allowed 13 hits another NEW game.

DE PERE — Seymour tallied three runs in the second and fifth innings en route to an 8-7 Northeastern Wisconsin Conference triumph over DePere here Monday.

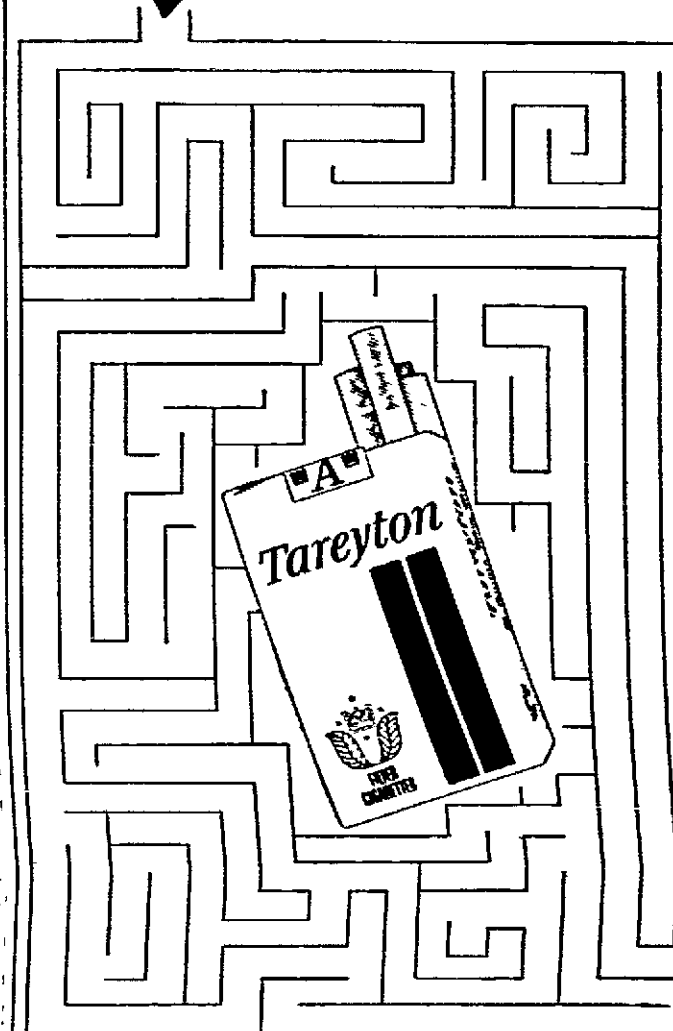

Bill Fischer and Rick Eisenreich paced the Indians' attack with a single and double apiece. Vern Freemore added two sin-hits, and walked two. Kapitzke forth combined on the mound didn't allow a hit but walked for Seymour, limiting De Pere five.

Gary Glocke, who relieved Jim Pettritto in the eighth was De Pere at 4 p.m. Thursday in the loser. They allowed 13 hits another NEW game.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Behnke

Do you know who was the youngest man ever to play in a big league baseball game? . . . Answer is pitcher Joe Nuxhall . . . He set the all-time record when he broke in with the Cincinnati Reds in 1944 at the age of 15.

Did you know that up-and-coming golf pro Frank Beard is a younger brother of former All-America basketball great Ralph Beard of Kentucky?

Here's an oddity from baseball . . . Did you know that the Dodgers won the pennant last season without having a .300 hitter in their regular lineup! . . . Among all the Dodger regulars, the man who had the highest average for the season was Maury Wills who batted .286.

I bet you didn't know . . . We have the new Ties by Superba called the Clipper . . . stays tied because there's a spring action clip. $1.50

Air Cavalry Hurls Reinforcements At N. Vietnamese

Three Battalions Airlifted to Aid Battle in Highlands Area

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen hurled heavy reinforcements against a force of 350 or more North Vietnamese regulars in the central highlands today and reported the Communists were on the run.

Helicopters airlifted three battalions of cavalry reinforcements to the battle scene 15 miles west of An Khe and 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

After brisk fighting throughout the day — the second day of the engagement — reports from headquarters of the 1st Air Cavalry Division said the enemy force was retreating at nightfall.

The engagement started Monday when an outnumbered company of cavalrymen clashed with strongly entrenched North Vietnamese. Some of this fighting was hand-to-hand.

Casualties Moderate
The U.S. command in Saigon said 28 Communist troops were killed in the opening six-hour fight Monday, but a division of ficer at the scene estimated 200 Communist enemy dead at 85. American casualties were listed as moderate.

It was the only reported ground action of any size in the Viet Nam war, and continuing monsoon rains once again cut sharply into the American air offensive over North Viet Nam.

B52 Strikes
U.S. Air Force B52 bombers flying above the weather at 40,000 feet, struck for a third successive day at the same target near the Cambodian border. The eight-engine planes, coming from Guam, bombed a Viet Cong troops base and storage area 70 miles north of Saigon in Binh Long Province.

Also along the Cambodian border, the U.S. 1st Infantry Division ended Operation Birmingham and reported taking a huge haul of enemy supplies during the 24-day search and destroy campaign. A military spokesman said it was the largest seizure of Viet Cong base camps and supplies of the last six months and possibly of the war.

In the fighting northwest of Qui Nhon, about 150 American air cavalrymen took on what was thought to be a North Vietnamese platoon Monday afternoon.

Well Equipped
A U.S. spokesman said the Communists were well camouflaged and dug-in, and probably equipped with Soviet 120mm mortars, the largest type used by the Communists which the Soviets have supplied only in recent months.

The spokesman said the U.S. company of helicopter-lifted

Labor Leader Will Address GOP Meeting

George Haberman Slated to Speak At State Conclave

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The president of the Wisconsin State AFL-CIO said today that he will address the Republican state convention in Milwaukee Saturday — the first state labor leader to do so in more than 30 years.

George Haberman said "there has been some semblance of liberalism in the party," and added:

"We just feel that perhaps there is a possibility of removing some of the reactionary who continue to dominate the Republican party."

Closer Cooperation
Haberman said his appearance, which has been approved by the labor group's executive committee, would enable him to discuss what he called "closer cooperation" between the labor movement and the GOP.

Republican State Chairman, Ody J. Fish said that he doesn't expect "all our delegates to agree with all he has to say, any more than I expect them to agree 100 per cent with anybody."

"But it is important for a vital political party that it be aware of all sides of the current political dialogue. Our convention is not an exercise in self-congratulations. It is a serious debate with the serious business of a campaign year."

Haberman said the last state labor leader to speak at a Republican convention was Henry Ohl Jr., former president of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor.

State Senate Okays Hike in School Aids

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Senate completed legislative action today on a bill that will raise school aids $11.2 million per year effective in September.

There was little debate on the measure and the vote accepting an Assembly amendment that set the total was 28-2. The dissenters came from Republican Sens. Jerris Leonard of Milwaukee and William Draheim of Neenah.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles recommended passage of the bill Monday when he received word that the state could expect a $28.7 million surplus at the end of this biennium.

The school aid increase raises the property tax potential behind each student $4,000 to a minimum figure of $38,000. Districts without that amount of property tax base for each student will receive state aid to beginning to the serious business of a campaign year."

to all districts.

Protesters Pledge to Remain

Students Stage Draft Protest at University of Wisconsin Building

MADISON (AP) — A boisterous band of students dug in at the University of Wisconsin Administration building today after turning it into a front line of protest against draft policies.

The students said they would remain until the university pledged not to make classroom grades available to draft officials. Students took over a public address system during the debate over blocking the doors.

The protesters occupied the four-story stone building Monday afternoon and remained through the night. Both university officials and students studiously sidestepped a direct confrontation over the camp-in.

University officials said no efforts would be made to remove the students by force unless they interfered with normal business today. The students, after two hours of debate last night, voted overwhelmingly against trying to bar the building doors to university personnel.

The number of protesters fluctuated. The total rose from three dozen campers to almost 500 students at the height of the debate, then dropped to about 100 early today. Campus enrollment is about 28,000.

The marble floor of the main lobby was covered with blankets, mattresses, cigarette butts and discarded sandwich wrappers. Students took over a public address system during the debate over blocking the doors.

"We are the power now, not the university," yelled a bearded student.

About one-third of the students were coeds. Three married couples brought infants.

Protest Organizer

Lowell Bergman, 20, a New Rochelle, N.Y., senior who identified himself as an organizer of the protest, said he planned to meet again today with University Chancellor Robben W. Fleming to discuss the group's demands.

Fleming said no attempt would be made to eject the protesters unless they hampered students' advance registration today for classes this summer and next fall.

The vote against any attempt to block the doors to university office workers and officials came on a show of hands after speakers predicted support for the protest would grow if it remained peaceful.

Public Protest
Bergman said the group wanted the university to make a public protest against new selective service standards for student

Sunday Celebration

Seymour Parish Observes 100 Years of Methodism

SEYMOUR — The centennial of Methodism in the community was observed in special services Sunday conducted by Rev. L. Clarence Kelley, Green Bay district superintendent of the Methodist Church in Wisconsin. The present St. Paul Methodist congregation is a merger of three "classes" or early church units in the area, the first of which was organized near the present Haase Brothers Cheese Factory southwest of here.

Rev. T. B. Bullock served the first group of early Methodist, Episcopal settlers from four families.

In time the group grew to 30 families and included the names of such early settlers as Sampson, Shepherd, Knox, Benedict, Sharp, Spry, Heagle and Sherman.

Roll of Pastors
The roll of pastors from 1869 to 1873 shows David Lewis, J. Banta, H. Yarwood, S. H. Couch, O. B. Clark and L. B. Bullock.

"There were no saloons and the activities centered largely around the church," notes the church history. Early meetings were held at the nearby Charles Benedict home and later George Shepherd donated land on the north side of State 54 for the first church.

About 10 years later a second "class" formed in the present North Seymour area near the Shawano County line. Early church leaders included Peter Tubbs, William and Sykes Armistead and the Larkins.

The group met in a school and later built a church at Rose-lawn, several miles north of there. Joshua Bull, a Canadian Quaker, was an active leader in the church particularly as Sunday school superintendent.

Third Group Forms
The third "class" was started near Freedom about the same time as the Town of Osborne unit with James Sampson as its leader. By 1874, however, the group had disbanded.

In Seymour's early years, the lumbering based economy was centered south of the present business district. The railroad was laid in 1871 and the business activity centered itself accordingly.

The Osborne Methodists shifted their congregation to a site within a block of the present church. On April 5, 1875, the Osborne and North Seymour classes were merged to form the present congregation.

Building Program
A building program was initiated when Rev. D. O. Sanborn arrived in 1895. The parsonage stood on the present church site, was moved and remodeled. Rev. Manawa has been reported to and Mrs. Sanborn lived with the county sheriff's office.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blanshan. Parishioners of the merged congregation donated work and material for the construction and breaking a door window. job. Tubbs, Charles Jenkins Sr., George Larkin, the Daniels and Alfred Fuller were on hand with their teams to do the excavating.

It is believed that the store foundation stone was entered after 10 p.m. Sunday, Frazier said.

Revitalized Chapter Cited for Growth At State Conclave

GREEN BAY — The New London Jaycees were presented the first annual award for renewed enthusiasm and fastest growth at the annual convention here Friday and Saturday.

Ted Wedemeyer, state president, cited the New London chapter for its increase in membership and promptness in forwarding reports on projects for 1966-67.

Wedemeyer said the club had added 36 new members within a month, raising membership to a total of 45 from the 11 paid members of the 1965-66 year. It is also one of the first to send in reports on budget, plan of action and listing of new members.

"We have used New London as an example to other clubs in the state as to what a group of young men can do when they are stirred into action," he added.

The club will receive a trophy as the award.

Fires Break Out Along Tracks at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — The volunteer rural fire department was called to extinguish fires along the railroad tracks in three different places west of Laux's curve, off U.S. 45 at 5:45 p.m. Monday. Firemen reported the fires were caused by sparks from a passing train.

At 6:20 p.m., the volunteer fire department was called to the Texaco Service Station, S. Main Street, when a car owned by James Perkins caught on fire as he was working on it. The fire, which was under the dashboard and the engine, caused extensive damage.

Paul Dobias, supervising principal, was advised to contact the architect, Thern and Assoc., to see that all the changes by James Perkins caught on were approved by the state Industrial Commission. The project will then be let out on bids.

The fire, which was under the dashboard and the engine, caused extensive damage.

Bear Creek District Voters Will Fight to Retain School

Vote 218-77 to Oppose CESA Clintonville Merger Proposal; Hire Leonard to Argue Case

BEAR CREEK — An overwhelming majority of Bear Creek School District voters decided Monday night that they would rather fight than switch.

At a special meeting called to determine the opinion of the electorate on a Cooperative Educational Services Agency (CESA) No. 8 proposal to merge the local district with Clintonville, the vote was 218-77 in opposition to the plan.

The vote has no official bearing on the CESA proposal but indicates that the people of the district wish to maintain their own school.

A second decision to be made was whether to hire an attorney to argue the district's case.

Hire Leonard
This, too, was approved by a 3-1 vote and, on the motion of State Sen. Gerald Lorge, the district decided to hire State Sen. Jerris Leonard, Milwaukee, as its counsel.

A total of $500 was appropriated for attorney fees.

A counter motion by Roger Paul to name Francis Werner as the district's attorney was ruled out of order. Werner, a member of the CESA committee.

The crowd of 296 persons was subdued and no heated discussion involved.

Chance to Speak
Lorge was elected meeting chairman and Mrs. David Fletcher secretary.

"No matter what the outcome is, you will know you had your chance to speak your piece," Lorge told the group.

"The district will get state aids during the 1966-67 school year, but the department of education asks that an attempt be made to widen the tax base of the district either by joining (CESA) No. 8 proposal to merge an adjoining school district or attaching more land to the present Bear Creek district," Lorge said.

He listed 1965 local taxes for operational costs of the three schools mentioned in reorganization matters as $14.59 per $1,000 equalized valuation in the Clintonville district; $16.71 per $1,000 in the New London district, and $16.42 per $1,000 in the Bear Creek district. The difference is mainly in debt retirement of building programs, Lorge claimed.

Don't Want to Join
Mrs. Roger Paul said she didn't know where increased valuation would come from, because nobody would want to join the Bear Creek district.

Lorge said there are many who don't want to get out either.

"The day is here where we can sit down and discuss this and still walk out friends," Lorge said. "There would be no more objection from people that we would ask to join the Bear Creek district, than there is from the people who are being asked to leave it," Lorge added.

Lawrence Bachelor said, "All children deserve an equal opportunity and I can't see where we are big enough to offer it to them."

One woman said, "All kids won't get an equal opportunity in a larger school." She objected to after school activities and didn't like the idea of having her children riding in cars so they could participate.

Public Hearing
The CESA committee will conduct a public hearing at the Bear Creek High School at 8 p.m. Monday, to hear arguments by residents of the area before giving its decision.

Both sides already are discussing possible action, depending on the CESA decision.

New London Woman Honored At University

NEW LONDON — Irene Shaddock, a candidate for a doctor's degree at Michigan State University, was honored recently by members of Phi Kappa Phi sorority for her scholastic achievement.

Miss Shaddock, daughter of Mrs. Urban Worm, 1407 N. Water St., is a graduate of Clintonville High School and received her bachelor degree in physical education at the University of Wisconsin and her masters degree at Michigan State.

She taught physical education classes at Waupaca High School before leaving for California.

The theft is the second involving a medical bag to be reported to police within a week. Last Wednesday, Dr. G. P. Dernbach reported his satchel was taken.

Police were notified of the missing satchel at 11 a.m. Saturday. Dr. Pfeiffer said he last saw the satchel May 5. Report of the stolen satchel from Dr. Dernbach's car made Dr. Pfeiffer look for his, he told police.

The missing satchel contained emergency equipment, but no pills or drugs.

$100 Damage Caused When Vehicle Strikes Rear of Parked Car

NEW LONDON — More than $100 damage resulted from a two-car accident at 8:20 p.m. Sunday in the 600 block of Wyman Street.

City police report a car driven by Richard A. Hoskins, 28, 1503 Mill St., was traveling north on Wyman Street when it ran into the rear of a parked car owned by Rudolph H. Gehrke, 1102 W. Prospect St., Appleton.

Shawano Area Youths Escape Injury as Car Hits Tree, Fence

CLINTONVILLE — Four Shawano area youths escaped injury about 9:05 p.m. Sunday when a car driven by James Allender, 20, Shawano, left U.S. 45 five miles south of here.

The car returned to the highway, left again, knocked down a tree and a fence before stopping in a farm field.

Damage to the car was estimated at $200. Passengers in the car, which went out of control on a curve were Peggy Allender, and John Stickney, also of Shawano, and Janice Boerst, route 1, Bonduel.

A Bear Creek School District resident casts her ballot on a proposal to dissolve the district and merge it with the Clintonville district. The vote outcome was 218-77 against the Cooperative Educational Services Agency plan. District electors also voted to hire an attorney to argue their case. (Will Photo)

Drivers 'Sentenced' to Safety Class

Seven men and eight women safety drive here, in the court were "sentenced" by County phase of the program.

Judge Gustave J. Keller Monday to a two-hour driver safety class at Appleton Senior High School.

This morning's special court session, which started at 8:30 a.m., was the first of several sessions that will be called in conjunction with Appleton Automobile Safety Days running from Wednesday through May 28.

Judge Keller of Outagamie County Court Branch 2 is cooperating with officials of the Appleton New Car Dealers Association, sponsor of the Department, will not have to return to court.

The complaints against them will be dismissed on completion of the course, and the motorists will not be fined nor will points be assessed against their driver's licenses, Judge Keller said.

Cites Death Toll
This morning's session lasted about a half hour. Many of the motorists were young. Judge Keller told them, as they stood before his bench in a semi-circle, that in 1964, 1,059 persons were killed on Wisconsin highways. In 1965, he said, the toll was 1,033, and "if it continues the way it has started out in

State Names New Deputy School Head

A. S. Buchmiller To Assume Post Held by W. C. Kahl

MADISON — Archie A. Buchmiller, teacher and education administrator for 18 years, has been appointed new deputy superintendent of the State Department of Public Instruction.

The appointment will become effective on July 1 when William C. Kahl, the present deputy, will leave the post to become state superintendent.

Kahl previously had been appointed to the state's top elective educational post to succeed Angus Rothwell, who will leave the department on that date to become executive director of the State Coordinating Committee for Higher Education.

Buchmiller's appointment was announced this morning by Kahl. Buchmiller now serves as assistant state superintendent in charge of administration and staff services. In that position he has administered department finances, personnel, research, state and federal program development, data processing, and the department's publications and public information activities.

State Career
Buchmiller, a 1948 graduate of Wisconsin State University, La Crosse, has spent his entire educational career working in Wisconsin school systems. He has served as a teacher, riding in a circle and through principal and local school superintendent, an obstacle course, and in the latter position in general maneuvering. Capt. Wilbur Blair and McFarland.

While working as an educator, he has earned two higher degrees in his field, a masters degree and a specialists' degree troop, led by Mrs. Peter Oberlin, educational administration, hauser, for the Brownie fuyup Both are from the University of Wisconsin. He is active in park, professional educational association. Troop 163 is planning a field trip to Green Bay to visit army veteran of World War II, historic sites June 7.

City Plan Unit Gives Okay for Nursing Home

$350,000 Facility Proposed for Northeast Side

A $350,000 nursing home development proposed today for Appleton's far northeast side received approval from the city plan commission.

The home will be located on N. Meade Street past Northland Avenue in the 14th Ward.

A modern structure, the home will have 105 beds and be of frame construction with brick veneer.

Ready to Start
Melvin Lynn, Eau Claire, said he plans to start construction as soon as the Appleton Council approves his project.

Lynn specializes in constructing and operating nursing homes and just recently opened a new facility at Lancaster.

The land on which the home will be constructed is zoned residential. Under the city's ordinances, a nursing home can be built in a residential area providing it meets certain criteria.

After reviewing the project and the effect it will have on the surrounding area, plan commissioners said all requirements were being met.

City Planner Walter Rasmusen said the city could issue a permit for the nursing home project.

Unanimous Approval
The commission was unanimous in its recommendation that the city council approve the project.

Lynn said the nursing home would provide its own off-street parking facilities.

In other action, the commission:

— Referred back to the council its original recommendation to rezone from two-family to multiple family property owned by Herbert Stoeger on the south side of E. Newberry Street between Schaefer and Joseph streets.

— Received a letter from the owner of property at 219 E. Randall Street extending his offer to sell to the city until June 15, and referred it to the city parking commission.

Pentagon Expanding Viet Nam 'R and R'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials are planning to expand "rest and recuperation" programs for the troops in Viet Nam.

Servicemen in that Southeast Asian country now are entitled to a seven-day leave outside the country during their one-year tour of duty. They usually are sent to Japan, the Philippines, Thailand, Formosa and Hong Kong.

But now they may be flown back to Hawaii for a rest. Other countries outside of Viet Nam also may be added to the furlough list.

Tuition Help Six Years' Payments for Damages Returned to Youth

A portion of next year's college tuition for an Appleton youth will come from restitution payments he has been making for damage he did to an industrial plant six years ago.

On April 20, 1960, a 12-year-old youth was caught and admitted damaging three large plate glass windows with a BB gun. An agreement was worked out where the boy would make $300 restitution.

Brazilian President Hops To New Ports, Plants, Dams

By JOSEPH NOVITSKI
RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — President Humberto Castello Branco has announced a Brazilian economic miracle of sorts. He's blitzing across his sprawling nation to prove it to skeptics.

Commuting by presidential plane to new ports, plants and power dams, Castello Branco is calling attention to the investments of his two-year-old, coup-born government.

"Today, with two years gone by we are convinced that, considering the truly chaotic situation into which Brazil had fallen, it would be impossible to do more than what has been done — which constitutes practically a miracle," he said last week.

He set the keynote for a round of opening ceremonies in a speech at a 500,000-ton government steel mill near Sao Paulo.

$46 Million Loan
The 65-year-old retired army marshal signed a $46-million loan with the Inter-American Development Bank the next day, then took a plane for another opening ceremony.

Shortly after noon he was blinking as a hot wind stirred iron ore dust from the first railroad carload dumped onto a conveyor belt at a new $25-million automated ore port.

Two days later Castello Branco, who steps down in March next year, flew deep into the Brazilian interior to watch gro being broken for a huge hydroelectric dam.

By the time the celebrations

Uncertainty Main Factor In Viet Nam

Civil War Threat
Creates Instability
For Present, Future

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — A country with a fever. The one certainty about South Viet Nam is its uncertainty, no matter how optimistic the Johnson administration sounds about it.

There had to be a showdown there between the military government and the Buddhists who want to topple it while the United States is busy trying to defend it against the Communists.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, who met with President Johnson in Honolulu last February, forced the showdown over the weekend when troops loyal to him seized Viet Nam's second largest city, Da Nang, a Buddhist stronghold.

This could mean civil war, or a bloody one.

The Johnson administration appeared deeply disturbed and said it had no foreknowledge of Ky's action. Johnson met repeatedly with his top aides. Then late Monday a high U.S. official said he doubted there would be civil war.

Limited Optimism
He would not let his name be used but met with newsmen after a late Monday conference between Johnson and his aides, including Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam.

But this official's optimism turned out to be limited. While he didn't expect war now, he said he foresaw a long period of instability — while the United States was still trying to keep out the Communists — but hopefully thought this might evolve into stability.

And this gets back to a basic question:

If no civil war now, what about later? The country has been more or less chaotic for years. While Ky may get away with his showdown now, no one can predict there won't be a blood bath eventually.

Never A Democracy
The South Vietnamese have never had democracy. Their concern, as they have demonstrated it, has never been so much for the national interest as for the interest of special groups.

The more chaotic Viet Nam becomes, the less reason the United States can have before the world for keeping its forces there to defend against communism a people who meanwhile make war on themselves.

If under such circumstances the United States had to pull out, it would be an international embarrassment for the United States without parallel in its history.

Hope for Miracle
No wonder the Johnson administration keeps hoping things will turn out all right. Perhaps Ky will be able to perform such a miracle. He will be the only one in contemporary Vietnamese history who did.

And at this moment anyone trying to look at the whole situation objectively has to keep his fingers crossed.

The same U.S. official mentioned above said one of the Buddhist leaders, Trich Tri Quang, is totally committed to the downfall of Ky's government, and that his ambition would not be diminished by any temporary Ky victory.

The Buddhists say they want a civilian government. Ky says that's what they will have, but not for about a year, and not that if the new government turns out to be neutralist or pro-Communist.

And at this point it isn't clear at all whether Tri Quang is pro-Communist, although he has made vague statements to the effect that he wasn't.

Keep Californians Green Backers Vacuum Up Cash

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP) — Within seconds after the cover fell from the back of the truck, an estimated 40 persons piled out of their cars on the busy freeway to help collect the litter.

But officers said it wasn't exactly a Keep California Green campaign that accounted for the public willingness to help — although the color of the litter might have been a factor. The color was green. The litter was money.

"The whole thing was cleaned up in about 15 minutes," said a witness.

And Armored Transport Co. officials verified the story.

They told police that only slightly more than $1,000 has been returned of the $10,000 that fell from the armored truck Saturday on the Golden State Freeway.

Common Market Takes Another Step

The agreement on financing the agricultural program of the European Common Market, hammered out in an all-night bargaining session, ends a 13-month deadlock among members of the European Economic Community and at the very least poses the opportunity that the ECM now can proceed toward the accomplishments its supporters have predicted for the organization. The agreement also is most important to the United States.

Rather surprisingly, France played a minor role in the settlement. It was Italy and West Germany who made the necessary concessions which paved the way for the strategic agreement.

The basic issue was how much each member would contribute to the common fund to be expended to modernize agriculture within the Market countries, and how much each would receive. In the end, Italy agreed to raise its ante on contributions, and Germany agreed on a larger share of appropriated funds going to benefit agriculture in southern Italy.

But with this issue out of the way, the ministers agreed that the last customs barriers on intracommunity trade in industrial products could be stripped away on July 1, 1968. This is one year later than members hoped to reach this milestone, but it is still one year earlier than foreseen in the original Treaty of Rome of 1957.

The importance of the agreement to the United States is that now the Common Market ministers can proceed to two other vital policy decisions, first, Common Market prices for agriculture goods, and second, the community's position in the Kennedy round of tariff cutting negotiations at Geneva. It is also significant that the new agreement on agricultural financing will be laid aside and cannot go into effect until these other two matters are decided.

This should put pressure on the members to dispose of these other two policy decisions speedily. And as far as the United States is concerned, time is of the essence. The Trade Expansion Act of 1962 expires June 30, 1967. This is the act which gives the President the authority to slash tariffs up to 50 per cent if other nations will agree to do the same. And it was the passage of this legislation under the late President Kennedy which provided the inspiration for the negotiations which have been going on in Geneva for the past year or so. The negotiations were deadlocked awaiting policy decisions by the Common Market.

The Market's decisions on common farm prices are of particular concern to France as the largest producer of farm products in the ECM. But now that the other members are agreed on the farm financing program, they can unite to put pressure on France to come to agreement on farm prices. And then hopefully they can get around to dealing with us at Geneva on mutual tariff reductions which could spur greatly increased trade between our nation and the ECM.

Appleton Automobile Safety Days

Two vital points of attack in any traffic safety program are the ability of the driver and the condition of the vehicle. And these are the two points which will be emphasized in the educational program being undertaken during Appleton Automobile Safety Days, May 18-23.

This is the most extensive safety education program ever undertaken in the city and it involves a number of governmental and private groups interested in the subject. Full cooperation has been promised by the city government and the police department, by the county, its traffic court and county police, the State Motor Vehicle Department and the state traffic patrol, the Appleton New Car Dealers Association and the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce.

The police have conducted safety inspections of vehicles annually in the past, but with the added manpower being provided by the automobile dealers, this service will be extended to many more motorists this year.

The Soldiers Square Mall

The City of Appleton has been afforded its first real opportunity to take a giant stride in implementing the central business district plan recommended after a year-long study by Harland Bartholomew and Associates, nationally known planning firm headquartered at St. Louis.

We are referring to the tentative sketch for the Soldiers Square mall prepared recently by a Detroit architect to blend in with the new four-level parking structure to be the first municipal off-street parking facility on the south side of College Avenue.

Indeed the layout for Soldiers Square is simple, practical and attractive. Its implementation would be a real shot-in-the-arm to the entire southeast sector of the central business district and open up new avenues of progress and opportunity for the retail community there.

In addition to serving commercial, traffic and parking needs—the parking structure and mall-like pedestrian walk will be a community showplace, attracting city and area residents to the central city.

The merchants and property owners in the area of the proposed parking ramp-mall complex should be thinking of renovating the back ends of stores to take advantage of the fine new public improvement being planned at their back doors.

After looking at the parking structure plans and the companion pedestrian walk, which preserves the Soldiers Square memorial theme, one cannot help but be impressed and commend city officials for being on the right track in building for a better Appleton.

Looking Backward

Crescent Chided for Mistake

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for May 24, 1966.

S. J. Perry, the model farmer, has sold his Greenville farm for $10,000—$7,000 down. His labor and energy brought that farm "up from the stump."

P.S.—He backed out and wants more—Crescent, April 28th, 1866.

The P.S. above is an erroneous statement, and is a source of considerable annoyance to friend Perry. We noticed it at the time it appeared; but was loathe to credit it. Mr. Perry called upon us today, and gave us a history of the transaction, which was as follows:

A German from Pennsylvania bargained for the Premium farm for $10,000—$7,000 down, and was to meet Mr. Perry the next day at Messrs. Clark and Boyd's office, in this city, to draw up the papers. Mr. and Mrs. Perry came according to agreement. On meeting them, the would-be purchaser said to Mr. P. that he had come to the conclusion that unless he (Perry) would take $5,000 down, he could not purchase.

Mr. Perry told him, "very well, sir, that is not according to our agreement, and I don't accept it. My farm is worth the money any day, and more, too."

And it is, That is the way "Perry backed out."

Feels Governor's Statements In Forum Contrary to Facts

Editor, Post-Crescent: Statements made in your Peoples Forum column, by Gov. Warren Knowles, which was published in your paper, Sunday May 8, 1966, seem contrary to fact. The facts of the matter are that on March 24, 1965, the Governor in a special message to the legisla-

Few Courses Offered at Bear Creek

Editor, Post-Crescent: I would like to commend you on your article "The Problem With Small High Schools". We thought it was very good. Because by this time I'm sure pressure is being placed on you to silence our voices. I would like to expand a little on just the number of courses being offered at three schools in our area:

|              | 9  | 10 | 11 | 12 |
|--------------|----|----|----|----|
| Bear Creek   | 7  | 8  | 10 | 10 |
| Clintonville | 14 | 16 | 24 | 24 |
| New London   | 14 | 16 | 21 | 25 |

I think that this alone should be very revealing.

Another fact that cannot be ignored is that in our state schools on a whole 38 per cent of the children go on to school, be it vocational or college. From Bear Creek, 10 per cent go on to school. Are our children any less intelligent than the rest of the state? I sincerely doubt this. The only other conclusion I can come to is that our school is sadly failing in its job.

I hope the people in our town will unite and stand behind the CESA Committee's resolution to reorganize this district and to give our children the education they need and deserve.

More on Newberry Rezoning

Editor, Post-Crescent: The letter to the editor in your May 10 paper by a Ben R. Schneider prompts me to write this letter of protest to his protest.

First: Regarding this so-called Newberry situation a distorted mountain is being made of an insignificant molehill. I propose that if all rezonings in this city must follow this congested, riled, confused course in the future, this fair city will take on a vicious atmosphere of stagnation.

I have heard Newberry St. described as a residential area and that it should be kept that way.

Well, if that be so, either my eyesight is bad or someone is looking at the wrong street because as I drive to and from Kimberly I see such things as taverns, service stations, retail stores, repair shops, etc. Also there is a complex of business merging on Walter Ave.

Gerald J. Voster

ture, entitled "Crisis in Education" stated that he expected the land for the Fox River Valley and the Racine-Kenosha area, for the two new Universities, be provided by the area concerned. In fact, on page (6) of the Governor's message, he stated "You have before you Bills 135-A and 48-S which may be used to implement this principle. I am asking that these bills be amended to authorize the creation of third and fourth year liberal arts institutions in the Fox River Valley and the Racine-Kenosha area. These bills should provide that the sites for these new institutions may be acquired by the State Building Commission. I expect the land to be provided by the areas concerned so that there will be no need for funds for this purpose. I am also asking that they provide sufficient funds so the reorganized Coordinating Committee, after selecting the sites and assigning operational responsibility, may begin the appropriate academic and then physical planning."

In the same message to the legislature, the Governor requested that the pending bills expanding four year educational opportunities be amended to provide for a third and fourth year University — qualified training in the Fox River Valley and the Racine-Kenosha area.

If Governor Knowles will reread pages 5, 6 and 7 of his March 24, 1965 message to the legislature, he will have to withdraw his denials in paragraph 1 and 2 of his letter. Also the Governor is well aware of the fact that the Fox River Valley Committee members and the Students-First Committee did ask him as Governor, and the members of the State Building Commission, not only for a 30-day delay to permit further investigation, but for a complete evaluation of the sites submitted by the regional area to be served.

It is my feeling that the Governor, as the head of the state of Wisconsin, and as chairman of the State Building Commission should insist that every member visit the several major sites and make a very careful appraisal of each and then act in the interest of the Students and the taxpayers in the entire Northeastern Wisconsin area.

Fuel Oil in Fogging Held Irritating to Many People

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Lest Mr. Day should think that only one person in Appleton objects to the fogging program, I should like to say that the writer of the letter about the use of pesticides was not the person who visited his office. Many people object to the saturation spraying. Among the many are asthmatics and those under an extended and expensive allergy control program. I did not attack DDT but DDT related poisons. However, this was wrong, since, according to the State Board of Health, the greatest objection is to the kerosene or fuel oil which is a greater irritant to the asthma sufferer than the insecticide.

Some scientists and biologists are now warning that petroleum by-products in the air from cars and furnaces may also be a factor in causing cancer of the lungs just as is the use of tobacco. We can all understand that the cars and industries expelling waste products into the air around us, require patience from us while they work to solve their waste problems. They provide the city with its livelihood. What excuse is there, though, for saturating the city with oil merely to have a two week reprieve from mosquitoes.

Wisconsin Report

Legislative Morale Low; Lobbying Quiz, Extra Session Blamed

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It may be that this witness is developing a degree of astigmatism, but for what it is worth this reporter has never seen a Legislature return to its deliberations in such a dispirited fashion as the one now sitting.

Wyngaard

The test is not so much what is being said, or is not being said, or done, or not being done on the floors of the houses, as in the casual conversations with representative members in the corridors and in their offices and in the coffee shops around town. There appears to be a group conviction that the spring session was not needed, although for the decision these men have only themselves to blame, and that they are likely to cause their election campaigns some damage whatever the results of their deliberations. There is also a surprising resentment among some of the younger men because the job of being a legislator is not as attractive or rewarding as it seemed to be when they eagerly volunteered their services.

THE MALAISE

The spiritual fatigue is of course related in some degree — although many of these men would be loath to admit it — to the star chamber proceedings going on daily across the street in the Dane County Courthouse.

There Dist. Atty. Michael Torphy, with the earnest assistance of Assistant State Atty. Gen. Leroy Dalton, is summoning one legislator after another to ask questions in a grand jury investigation that obviously relates to lobbying activities and legislative integrity, although there has not yet been an official declaration of its purpose and nature.

The number of men from the Legislature called thus far suggests that the prosecutors intend to continue indefinitely. It is not the purpose of this report to question the method or the purpose of the grand jury investigation, but it is pertinent to relate that there is a deep resentment about the fact across the street in the legislative chambers of the Capitol.

It is perfectly obvious that the result cannot be avoided, but there is an indignation about the probable public reaction in the local constituencies because particular representatives have been summoned to testify. The prosecutors are careful to instruct the reporters on the scene that the fact of a subpoena does not impute wrongdoing to the person called. But one young legislator told me indignantly that on the day he was summoned the wire service that serves his home town newspaper omitted that explanation.

BUT MORE

Yet the sinking morale of the typical member of the Legislature probably has deeper roots, objectively analyzed. The grand jury development is a profound irritation. Some good men regard it as a gratuitous insult.

But it is probably the additional straw, in a manner of speaking, that is breaking the legislative spirit. Thoughtful members are wondering more and more whether the system in which they are anonymous cogs is really manageable, and are becoming increasingly resentful about their lack of dignity, about their "image" to use the trite word.

Once it was feasible for the politically aware citizen to serve in the Legislature for a couple of terms without irrevocable financial damage to himself. Today legislative service is a burden to most of these men. There are some rewards, but they no longer compensate to the degree they did in other times. Especially for the energetic and creative person who has full-time job of professional responsibilities at home, legislative service can be deeply frustrating.

The tragedy, from the point of view of the understanding outsider, is that these men somehow seem unable to cure their own institutional limitations. There is no real justification for the fragmented sessions, for example. But they are on a treadmill and have not found a way to escape.

Strictly Personal

Lesson for Business in Cup of 'Terrible Coffee'

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I took the same airline down to Florida and back last month. On both trips, the meals were fine but the coffee was terrible. On the way back, I mentioned to the stewardess that the airline ought to try another band of instant coffee.

Harris

"It's not the brand of coffee," she said. "I took some home and tried it, and it's quite good. It's our coffee-makers on the plane. They're old and bad, and they'd ruin any coffee we might use."

"Have you complained about them?" I asked.

"Oh, sure," she said. "But they don't listen to us, because we work for the company. If a passenger like yourself complained, though, they'd listen and maybe even do something about it."

This, in my view, is a poorly run airline. It should not have to wait for passengers to complain—for most people will not bother to do so, and will simply shift to another line if dissatisfied.

One of the most important attributes any company can have is a good "feedback" system from its employees. If the employees feel free to tell the management what is wrong, and also feel that they will be listened to, the service will never get to the "complaining customer" stage.

Yet many large companies make a sharp, and artificial, distinction between their own employees and the public at large. They ignore the fact that their own employees are people, with the same attitudes and needs as customers in general.

When an employee shrugs his shoulders at some complaint, and gives the infuriating reply, "I only work here," it can mean one of two things. First, that the employee doesn't care how sloppy the service is; second, that he has given up caring, because his protests are ignored at the top.

An organization, like a person, can operate effectively only if its central nervous system is able to communicate messages back and forth, not only to the outside world, but within the organization itself. And it seems to me that poor communication—both external and internal—is responsible for more organizational breakdowns than any other process.

Indeed, the lower echelon employees often know what is wrong with a company's operations long before the message drifts up to the front office. Each level in the hierarchy tends to act more as a drag than as a transmitter of such warning signals, and the larger the organization, the longer it takes the message to get from the extremities to the "brain." The best brand of instant coffee is worthless without an "instant complaint" system to warn management when trouble, not coffee, is brewing.

Gemini Postponed After Agena Fails

missions, fired the Agena engines to change orbits, and Cernan was to have made a record 2-hour, 25-minute space walk.

Two-Week Wait

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday that if the Agena failed to achieve orbit, Stafford and Cernan would have to wait at least two weeks until an alternate satellite could be placed on the launch pad.

This satellite, called an alternate target docking adaptor (ATDA) is not as sophisticated as the Agena. It has no propulsion system. It was built after the Gemini 6 failure for just such an emergency.

Today the Atlas rocket had lifted off 15 minutes late because of a fueling problem with the Agena. Pressure apparently dropped in a nitric acid line and the crew was unable to load as quickly as planned.

The Atlas launch appeared to be normal as the silvery projectile darted out over the Atlantic Ocean.

Last Contact

About two minutes into the flight, mission control at Houston reported it had temporary loss of radio contact with Agena and then had regained it.

A minute later, the control center reported all contact lost.

A later announcement said the trouble appeared to occur "at staging." This would have been at the time when the Agena was to have separated from the Atlas.

During this period, there also was a report from the range safety officer at Cape Kennedy that the rocket may have been flying lower than normal.

A mission control spokesman said: "It appears it (the Agena) has come in, or is on its way in, somewhere. We have lost the bird."

Into Atlantac

He obviously meant that the Agena was plunging back toward earth, to a crash into the Atlantic southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The astronauts were removed from the cramped cabin of their spacecraft. They had been sealed into the capsule 15 minutes before the Atlas blasted away from another launch pad 6,000 feet away.

They were taken back to their ready-room quarters six miles from the launch pad.

The control center said it had no idea what went wrong and that a thorough review of the radio data will be made.

Second Failure

It was the second straight time something had gone wrong with a Gemini shot.

Or the Gemini 8 flight last March 16, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott successfully caught and linked up with an Agena in the first docking of two orbiting objects in space.

Several minutes later, however, a jet thruster stuck open and sent their spacecraft whirling wildly out of control. They came down to an emergency landing in the western Pacific.

Squads Nearby

Ky's forces had squads within a block of each pagoda but made no efforts to drive the insurgents out.

Venerable Thien Minh, regarded as a spokesman for the most militant monk, Thich Tri Quang, told a Buddhist rally in Saigon that "There is a plot to assassinate all Buddhists."

He demanded quick withdrawal of government troops from Da Nang and "an immediate solution" to the problem of restoring civilian rule.

As the rain poured down on the open air rally, Minh added: "All monks will sacrifice themselves to strike against the government."

At a major pagoda in Da Nang, wood was piled up to make immolation platforms. The monks said they were ready to set fire to themselves, as seven of them did during the agitation that caused the downfall of President Ngo Dinh Diem in November 1963.

Withdraw Troops

Ky threatened to "liberate" Da Nang last month from his opponents but withdrew 4,000 troops airlifted there in U.S. planes when the government's election pledge to the Buddhists temporarily eased the crisis.

The five northern provinces under the jurisdiction of the army's 1st Corps have been in almost an open state of rebellion since Ky fired his rival, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, as corps commander and virtual northern overlord on March 10. The second of Thi's successors, Lt. Gen. Ton That Dinh, was removed on Sunday after he appeared to side with the northern Buddhist-led "struggle movement" in a broadcast from Hue.

New Assignments

The junta announced in Saigon that both men would be given new assignments, but did not say when or where. The government also disclosed that an armed forces congress on Sunday issued instructions to all four corps commanders to preserve public security and order "so as to create an atmosphere favorable to preparations for the forthcoming election of a constituent assembly."

Ky has said this assembly will draft a constitution under which a civilian government could be elected next year. He said he will hold onto power until then, although the Buddhists obviously hope for civilian rule earlier.

Outward Calm

Despite the possibility that Buddhist leaders might send mobs into the streets again, Saigon appeared to take the latest crisis with outward calm. The city's labor unions ended a strike that had curtailed port operations and most public transportation Monday after the government relieved a district police chief under attack by the union leaders.

The General Labor Federation also had threatened to disrupt electric and water service in Saigon. The walkout stemmed from charges of police brutality in the arrest of two women workers. They have been released.

U. S. Supports Saigon Rule By Military

Ky as the head of the established government of South Vietnam but this does not mean he would be given U.S. support over someone else in an election.

There is still considerable anger in Washington as the result of Ky's surprise weekend move. It is felt here that Ky decided he couldn't tolerate a situation where the Saigon government had no control over one of its most important military and political areas. But the wisdom of taking the action he did in seizing the town without U.S. consultation is questioned.

Many experts here contend that Ky's action will do more harm than good by stimulating the Buddhists to all-out opposition. Others say that it will give Ky an opportunity to re-establish law and order before elections are held for a constitution-making body.

Still Unclear

After that election, it is still unclear when a civilian government may be formed, officials say.

It is agreed by the President's top advisers that North Vietnam is doing everything it can to encourage divisions and dissensions in the South. At the present time, it is possible to cause more trouble for the Americans by political means than by military action, Hanoi reportedly believes.

Officials here concede that Thich Tri Quang, the Buddhist political leader, is totally committed to the downfall of the Ky government. It is less clear, they say, what kind of government Tri Quang would like to see in power.

Disrupted Election

It also is not yet clear whether Ky's move has disrupted the election machinery which had been agreed upon by Tri Quang.

Lodge is due in Saigon Friday after a full day of consultations in Seoul, where the Korean government faces opposition for its commitment to send an additional 20,000 men to Viet Nam by July. They now have 20,000 men on combat duty there.

Monday night Lodge and his wife were feted at a dinner party thrown by Johnson "as an expression of gratitude," a White House spokesman said.

Before heading back to Saigon, Lodge gave a final briefing Monday to members of the House Foreign Affairs and Appropriations committees. The members had little specifically to say about Lodge's report but one congressman said the ambassador's over-all tone was optimistic. He said Lodge still expressed belief there would be elections in Viet Nam this year.

Needed Soon

In the Senate, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, agreed with Fulbright that new Viet Nam hearings are needed — but went a step further.

Hearings are not only needed, he said, "they are needed very soon."

The committee is supposed to be debating the administration's $3.4 billion foreign aid authorization, but the bill apparently is in for a stormy time.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., an outspoken critic of administration foreign policy, told the committee Monday he would use all the parliamentary weapons at his command to assure that no action is taken on the measure unless a full quorum is present and without "full and extensive discussion of the relationship of this bill to the military establishment and its plans for international interventions."

deformities. The standards use academic grades and class rank.

Bergman said the university should refuse to cooperate in any way with the selective service system and should refuse to forward any academic information to it.

University President Fred Harvey Harrington noted that it was Wisconsin's policy to furnish grades and class standing to draft boards only upon the signed request of the student involved.

"Clearly the student is free to accept or reject these services," Harrington said. "The university's position is that each student must be free to exercise his choice."

Draft Policies

Harrington said he would ask the entire faculty to consider the university's draft policies one week from Wednesday.

"We want the policy stopped now," Bergman said.

The protesters occupied the building Monday afternoon after Harrington rejected their demands for immediate action.

"The university should protest the interference of the selective service with the freedom of the academic community and start looking at and living up to some of its slogans and plaques," Bergman said.

Wisconsin's student senate was scheduled to debate tonight a proposal to try to order the administration to withhold the grades and class standings from draft officials.

The dissident students said they also would carry their protest to a scheduled campus appearance tonight of a U.S. Department of State team explaining government policies in Viet Nam.

A similar effort here one year ago was heckled severely by a student audience.

to extend their hold on the main northern trouble spot.

Government marines moved toward east Da Nang but withdrew when they ran into strong rebel forces. The marines controlled most of the city, but anti-government forces moved into a third Buddhist pagoda and blocked traffic in the area. The two pagodas they already held were being used as rallying points.

Squads Nearby

Ky's forces had squads within a block of each pagoda but made no efforts to drive the insurgents out.

Venerable Thien Minh, regarded as a spokesman for the most militant monk, Thich Tri Quang, told a Buddhist rally in Saigon that "There is a plot to assassinate all Buddhists."

He demanded quick withdrawal of government troops from Da Nang and "an immediate solution" to the problem of restoring civilian rule.

As the rain poured down on the open air rally, Minh added: "All monks will sacrifice themselves to strike against the government."

At a major pagoda in Da Nang, wood was piled up to make immolation platforms. The monks said they were ready to set fire to themselves, as seven of them did during the agitation that caused the downfall of President Ngo Dinh Diem in November 1963.

State's '66 Traffic Toll Hiked to 290

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a soldier in a Dane County accident has brought Wisconsin's 1966 traffic toll to 290, compared with 299 on this date a year ago.

David Gruenwald, 20, of Mazomanie, a soldier home on leave, died early today in a Madison hospital of injuries suffered around midnight when a car overturned after leaving Highway 19 a mile west of Waunakee. Gruenwald was alone in the vehicle.

William J. Rick, 79, of rural Watertown, was injured fatally Monday when his car and a Milwaukee Road passenger train collided at a Jefferson County crossing near Ixonia, six miles east of Watertown.

Robert Richard Allen, 21, of Avalon in Rock County, died in a Madison hospital Monday night of injuries suffered when his car struck a utility pole and overturned south of Janesville the previous night.

Mrs. Darlene Davis, 21, of rural Berlin, died in a Madison hospital Sunday night as a result of a two-car crash near Wautoma May 10. The accident had claimed the life earlier of the other driver, John Jackson, 40, Oshkosh.

troops took moderate casualties against what later was estimated to be a North Vietnamese battalion — about 350 men. Another company of cavalrymen was sent in. The fighting broke off Monday night after six hours but resumed today with more American reinforcements taking part.

The spokesman said the North Vietnamese unit was located Sunday by a local group of Vietnamese militiamen. He said the militia found documents disclosing plans for the North Vietnamese to launch an attack today. The air cavalrymen called in air strikes on the area and then sent in a company.

The U.S. command listed these results for the 1st Infantry Division's Operation Birmingham which began April 24 and ended Tuesday:

116 Viet Cong killed, 28 captured and 128 weapons seized. 66 base camps made up of huts and fortifications destroyed.

Six aid stations, three hospitals and 314 buildings and huts destroyed.

Food stores seized included 2,103 tons of rice, 324 tons of salt, 30 tons of wheat and 1,240 gallons of cooking oil.

Enemy equipment seized included 7,050 uniforms, 1,200 pairs of sandals, 1,350 shirts, 1,000 shorts and 2,540 pieces of other clothing.

U.S. Navy and Air Force pilots, hampered by continuing foul weather, flew only 17 missions Monday over North Vietnam. It was their smallest number in recent weeks. Again they concentrated on roads, bridges and other targets in the southern panhandle near Vinh, Dong Hoi and the Mu Gia Pass.

U.S. planes flew 297 sorties over South Viet Nam Monday to support ground operations. Pilots reported killing 20 Viet Cong, sinking 12 enemy sampans and destroying numerous buildings and bunkers. South Vietnamese pilots flew 159 sorties Monday.

The South Korean Tiger Division reported that its units killed 16 Viet Cong and captured two Monday in sporadic fighting about 20 miles northwest of Qui Nhon.

3-Car Crash in Illinois Kills 3 Adults, 2 Children

WAUCONDA, Ill. (AP)—Five persons, including two children, were killed this morning and three others were injured in a three-car crash on U.S. 12 near Wauconda.

Police identified the dead as Donald K. Smith, 23, Reatha Peak, 23, Jimmy Shannon, 4, and Jackie Klich, 5 months, all of Harvey, and Julia Christopher, 33, of Wauconda.

Injured were Gary Peak, 23, husband of Reatha, his 5-year-old stepson, Brian Shannon, and Peak's 17-year-old brother, Rodney, all of Harvey.

Police said the south bound Christopher auto entered the northbound lanes and struck the Smith car, which was then hit by the third car driven by Rodney Peak.

The injured were taken to McHenry County Hospital.

Clergyman Wants More Young Men To be Pastors

GREEN LAKE (AP)—Dr. Myron C. Austinson of Janesville says more young men should be persuaded to enter the Lutheran ministry.

Dr. Austinson, reelected Monday to a second six-year term as president of the Southern Wisconsin District of the American Lutheran Church, said there were less than 200 men available to fill them.

"We must do an aggressive job of selling the idea of entering the ministry to young men in our home churches," Dr. Austinson said.

New Switch Will Protect Space Flight

Wiring Will Help Avoid Emergency Of Previous Trip

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — With an inexpensive new switch, plus probably the best wiring ever wound through a spacecraft, Gemini 9 officials feel confident they can avoid a near-tragic emergency like one that struck Gemini 8.

"The wiring was good before, but we're making it better," said Charles A. Mathews, Gemini program manager, as Gemini stories were being prepared for launch and space-walk flight. Investigators blamed a maneuvering thruster in Gemini 8's rear section for the tumbling, spinning ride in orbit that forced Neil A. Armstrong and Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott to make America's first emergency landing from space, March 16.

The blame was placed on a short circuit somewhere in the spacecraft, falsely commanding the thruster, a small rocket to fire. However, the location of the short, or its cause, remains a mystery.

Mathews said the short most likely had occurred in the wiring, or in the solenoids, magnetic switches that control the rocket valves. To avoid another emergency, he added, technicians took corrective actions in all possible trouble areas.

The improvement Mathews liked best was in the master switch controlling power to all 16 maneuvering rockets used in space.

The new switch, on the astronauts' control panel, offers double protection against a stray signal reaching the rockets. It activates two circuit breakers to cut off electricity in Gemini 9's maneuvering system. Gemini 8 had only one.

Mathews noted that Armstrong had turned the Gemini 8 maneuvering rockets off shortly after docking with an Agena rocket. However, he said, somehow the short allowed electricity to reach the No. 8 rocket anyway.

"Now with a 100 per cent degree of confidence," Mathews said of the twin breaker switch, "you can say the power in that system is off when you throw that switch."

Cernan Will Earn $14.25 During Walk

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — For 2 hours, 25 minutes of space walking, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan will earn a grand total of $14.25 in salary, based on a 40-hour work week.

Cernan, whose space stroll is scheduled for the second day of the Gemini 9 flight, draws $12,283 a year in military pay and allowances. His command pilot, Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford, makes $14,802.

For Cernan this figures out to be about $5.90 an hour for a normal five-day week.

Also, each receives, as all astronauts do, $16,250 a year in addition to their regular pay from the sale of their "personal program manager, as Gemini stories" to a science news service being prepared for launch and space-walk flight.

However, the price paid for the stories will drop more than $6,000 a year if all 19 of the new astronauts named recently sign contracts for the two publications. A kitty of $520,000 is divided equally among the participants.

Draft Test Oriented to Math, Science

400,000 Students Take 150-Question Deferment Exam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the 400,000 students who took the national draft deferment examination have a tip for those taking the test later: bone up on your science and math.

Those are the subjects they said were found most frequently during the three-hour, 150-question exam. It was administered Saturday at 1,200 colleges and universities in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

The results will be forwarded to local draft boards to help them determine whether the students can stay in school or be drafted into the armed services.

Another 600,000 youths will take the test May 21, June 3 and June 24.

Technical Objective — "The examination would have been a cinch for fellows at MIT or any other technical school," said Harvey Stein, 23, a student at Hastings Law School in San Francisco. "But I'm afraid it wasn't for me. I was a history major."

Although they said the examination was easy, two City College of New York students — Peter Gewandter and Al Samuel — said it was science-oriented, even in the reading comprehension and verbal analogy sections.

Some who took the test said the science and math questions were not difficult, though.

Flight of Gemini 9 Will Break Record

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 9 astronauts plan to break the American altitude record the third day of their flight.

Using the primary engine of an Agena rocket, their link-up target, Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan hope to be rocketed to a height of 255 miles.

This will be 38 miles higher than Gemini 5 flew to set the record but below the Soviet record of 308 miles for a manned flight.

Gemini 9 will stay in an orbit ranging from 185 miles to 255 miles for about two trips around the globe, then return to a path ranging from 182 to 190 miles.

1,367,059 Parts In Gemini 9 Craft

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — A lot of nuts and bolts, as well as complex space-age instruments, went into the Gemini 9 spacecraft.

Officials say the spacecraft has 1,367,059 parts built by more than 4,000 contractors in 42 states. The Titan 2 rocket used for launch consists of 10,000 parts from 1,500 companies.

undergraduates and 80 for graduate students.

Reports indicated only scattered picketing and protests at the test centers Saturday. It had been feared that demonstrations would be staged at many of the sites. But pickets showed up only at about a dozen locations.

Complex Plan For Gemini 9

Elaborate Tests Of Rendezvous Capability Slated

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 9's astronauts plan an elaborate set of rendezvous exercises during three days in orbit, as well as man's most extensive space walk.

The complex flight of Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan figures prominently in Project Apollo, America's program to send men to the moon.

Proposed highlights of Gemini 9:

1. A rendezvous with an Agena rocket during the third orbit.
2. The quickest rendezvous yet attempted. Two previous efforts by American spacecrafts — Gemini 6 with Gemini 7, and Gemini 8 with an Agena — occurred on the fourth orbit.
- 3rd Longest
4. A 2-hour, 25-minute space walk by Cernan, the third and longest orbital stroll in history.

Also, using the Agena's main engine, Stafford and Cernan first space flight as pilot of Gemini 6 last December. Cernan, chosen with the third group of astronauts selected in October 1963, has no previous space-flight experience.

Gemini Spacemen Have Survival Kits

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Should something force the Gemini 9 astronauts to land in a remote area, each man has a compact 23-pound survival kit.

It includes a one-man life raft, radio, flashlight, mirror, compass, sewing kit, 14 feet of nylon line, whistle, batteries, radio, sunglasses, sunbonnet, chemicals to desalt eight pints of sea water.

Also, 3 1/2 pounds of fresh water, a sea anchor, large knife, and a medical kit containing stimulant, pain, motion sickness, and antibiotic tablets, and aspirin, plus injectors from pain and motion sickness.

Gemini 9 Flight Has Tragic First Chapter

By RONALD THOMPSON AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The story of Gemini 9 has a tragic chapter. Two young astronauts originally picked to fly the mission died Feb. 28 in a flaming jet crash only a few feet from their spacecraft.

Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan stepped up to prime pilots' jobs under a long-standing space agency policy of having two trained crews for each space mission.

They had trained side by side with Elliot M. See Jr., a civilian, and Air Force Maj. Charles A. Bassett II, two rookie spacemen who looked forward to their maiden orbital voyage.

Back Pack

Cernan now will take the flight after doctors detected a slight heart condition in Donald K. Slayton, the original prime pilot.

Donnell Aircraft Corp., builder of Gemini spacecraft.

The jet, piloted by See, crashed into a building that housed Gemini 9, which was undergoing final inspection prior to being shipped to Cape Kennedy. Findings of the investigators who probed the crash have not been released.

No Mention

There has been no official mention of dedicating the flight of Gemini 9 to the memory of its original crew. However, Stafford and Cernan planned to take mementos from the Bassett and See families on their space trip.

What the mementos are has not been disclosed.

An alternate pilot has taken over only once before. Navy Cmdr. M. Scott Carpenter flew the nation's fourth Mercury

Cernan said he had "no real big catching-up to do" after finding himself the prime pilot beside Stafford, the command pilot, airport adjacent to the Mc-
